

Progressive Dinner Enjoyed By Club

In place of their regular meeting on Monday, January 6 members of the Young Mother's club held a progressive dinner with their husbands as guests.

The dinner started at 6:30 p m at the home of Mrs Stanley Holm, where tomato juice cocktails and hors d'oeuvres were served. New Year's decorations were used. The theme of this course was "Find Your Mate." The men were assigned the names of various animals and each found his partner to escort to the next course by identifying the mating call of his particular animal. The men were presented with carnation boutonnieres and programs setting forth the events of the evening. Co-hostesses with Mrs Holm were Mrs Norman Peters, Mrs Lewellyn Robbins and Mrs Ralph Richmond.

The group progressed to the "Salad Siesta" course at the home of Mrs Harry Bongers who was assisted by Mrs Rod Murray, Mrs Kenneth Keeling and Mrs Harold Laird. The salads were served in the candlelit recreation room at small tables laid with lace and crystal.

From the Bongers' home the men escorted their wives to the home of Mrs Elmer Schmidt for the main course. Serving with Mrs Schmidt were Mrs Robert Abrams, Mrs N C Anderson, Mrs William Parsons, Mrs Merlin Zier and Mrs Clem Stockard. The theme here was "Occupations"; the place cards depicted the occupations of the husbands and each person found his place at the table by identifying his own occupation.

Proceeding from the Schmidts, the party went to the home of Mrs Bob Jones for the "Sweet Something" course and the program. Mr Jones showed pictures he had taken overseas and dessert was served. Co-hostesses with Mrs Jones were Mrs Roice Fulleton, Mrs Victor Kreimeyer, Mrs Wallace Wolff and Mrs Ray Smith. Mrs Wolff was general chairman of the entire progressive dinner.

Stylish Lamb Shanks

Lamb shanks, a less-tender lamb cut, receive added attention when prepared with dried apricots and prunes. The shanks are cooked by a moist heat method of meat cookery . . . either braising or cooking in liquid.

Being delicate in flavor, lamb shanks are easily combined with many flavors . . . flavors that enhance the appeal of this meat cut as a main dish.

In this particular recipe, lamb shanks join forces with dried apricots and prunes to produce a dish known as Fruited Lamb Shanks.

This meat cut is also good when barbecued. This would probably become one of Dad's favorites. Lamb shanks can also be stuffed. A rice or bread stuffing is placed in the pocket left after the removal of the shank bone.

Reba Staggs, well-known meat expert, explains that lamb shanks are a less-tender cut and therefore must be cooked by a moist heat method of meat cookery . . . either braising or cooking in liquid. Remember, regardless of what lamb cut is being served, lamb is always served piping hot or cold . . . never serve lamb lukewarm.

Fruited Lamb Shanks

6 lamb shanks
 1/2 cup enriched flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
 1/2 cup water
 1 cup dried, pitted prunes
 1 cup dried apricots

Dredge lamb shanks in seasoned flour. Brown slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, prunes, and apricots. Cover and simmer until tender, about 2 hours. Yield: 6 servings.
