County Agent's News

 of cattle on feed will have on the fat market price?" Behind these questions is the fact that Morrow County as well as surrounding counties appear to have more cattle and calves on feed than for many years. Most of these cattle are on feed to utilize the surplus grain and hay which are produced on those farms and which does not move at a price profitable to the producer. A recent issue of the Meat Animal and Wool Review put out by Oregon State college and the USDA may give an indication of what lies ahead. The review says "There are fewer cattle and sheep in the nation's feedlots than a year ago. As the new year came in there were some 5.8 million cattle and calves on feed for market. According to the Federal Crop Reporting board's estimate released the week of January 16, this is 3% less than a year earlier, but nearly 6% more than the four year January 1 average. Corn belt states had 1% more cattle on feed than a year earlier, but the thirteen western states had 13% less. California's inventory was down 21%. The thirteen states which report cattle on feed each quarter had fewer cattle on feed on January 1 this year than last. Included are the nine corn belt states and four western states. Compared to a year earlier, the number on feed in these states less than three months was 5% above a year earlier. The number on feed three to six months was down 26%. Cattle feeders in these thirteen states reported intentions to market 41% of the January 1 inventory by April 1. This would be about 12% less than during the first three months last year. They intend to market 59% after April 1 or nearly 4% more than in 1957."

County Agent's News

by Murray Wade
 Secretary of State Mark Hatfield and State Treasurer Sig Unander are campaigning for a much higher stake in this year's election than Governor Robert D Holmes or primary candidate Lew Wallace. If either the present Secretary of State or State Treasurer is elected governor the winner will appoint his successor. The Oregon statutes provide that the appointee shall be of the same political party as his predecessor, or a Republican.

In this instance it amounts to control of the Board of Control. Naturally the appointee will be someone who views the political scene from the same angle as the new governor and the person appointed would feel obligated to follow the political trend as the man who tendered him the high office of secretary or State Treasurer.

The coffee hour guessers around the Capitol are inhaling deep and coming up with the name of State Senator Howard Belton who did a favor to all candidates and the Republican party by the declining to run for the Republican nomination for Governor and leaving a three-way split in GOP ranks.
Women's Prison Annex
 For 104 years, since Charity

Lamb was sent to the Oregon State Penitentiary for murder, Oregon has confined women prisoners in the same building where the male prisoners are kept.

The 1956 Board of Control decided to present preliminary plans to the 1957 Legislature for a separate prison for women to care for approximately 65. The legislators deferred action. However the present board has requested federal funds for architectural expenses. It is considered almost certain the funds will be allowed. Planning by the present Board of Control has progressed however. The site selected for the Women's Annex to the State Penitentiary, is several miles south of the main building, between the State Hospital Cottage Farm and the State Tuberculosis Hospital. The Board will ask the 1959 Legislature to provide funds for the Annex and vest the management with the superintendent of the Penitentiary.

Axiomatic Paragraph
 Suddenly, like a familiar but forgotten red light in the middle of the highway come these preliminary lines from Ralph T Moore in the current (1-11-58) number of Walter May's Oregon Voter:

"It is a dangerous doctrine and false that the common government owes us a living and that we are under no direct obligation to work for the good of all just as diligently as we work for our own good."
