HOOF AND HORN LIVESTOCK CLUB

Hoof and Horn Livestock club met at the Butter Creek pellet mill. Harold Erwin took us through the mill and explained how the pellets are made.

They use alfalfa hay for their pellets, chop it up, mix in molasses and terramycin and shape the pellets, then cool them and sack them. Purchasers from all over Oregon buy the feed by truck loads to feed in the stock markets.

Sometimes the purchasers come from Washington, also. It handles six tons an hour. The workers start work at seven a m and quit at five p m. Sometimes they work until midnight.

This Week's HISTORY MYSTERY

Can You Identify This Object?

CLUE: This mystery object came from the borders of Old Oregon. It is from one of the Blackfoot Indians' sacred medicine bundles which the Blackfoot believe was given them by the Thunder Spirit. The bundle is opened at the first sound of thunder in spring, this item is taken out and used to make medicine.

ANSWER: This is a ceremonial pipestem. The medicine man removes it from the medicine bundle, points it toward the approaching storm and prays that thunder will not harm anyone. The stem is considered the most sacred and important object in the bundle. It is often not perforated, frequently without a bowl, and in any case, rarely actually smoked.

The case of THE SAD SALAMI SANDWICH

OR... the happy housewife who knew all about SAVINGS BONDS

Once there was a man who didn't like salami. But one day his wife slipped a salami sandwich in his lunch box. "I'll dress it up with a little pickle and mustard and he'll never know it from ham," said the wife. But he did. He took one bite of the sandwich and put it back in his lunch box—along with a U. S. Savings Bond he wanted to take home.

That night his wife cleaned out the lunch box and burned its contents—salami sandwich, waxed paper wrappings, Bond—and all.

Now it was the husband's turn to be burned up. But the happy housewife, who knew all about Savings Bonds, explained that all her husband needed to do was to fill out a form, send it in to the Treasury, and his Savings Bond would be replaced free of charge. Which he did—and they did.

This true story, suggests one of the many reasons why it's so sensible to put savings in Bonds. There are many more. For one, in Bonds your principal is guaranteed. For another, your rate of return is assured.

And now every U. S. Series E Savings Bond bought since February 1, 1957 pays a new, higher interest—3 1/4% when held to maturity! It matures faster, in only 8 years and 11 months. And redemption values are higher, too, especially in the earlier years.

That's why so many happy housewives are urging their husbands to invest regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds. Why don't you join them—today?

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds
