ROCK HOUND'S CORNER

by John Newman

Hi folks—friend or foe alike. Did you know that the Clarno basin near Fossil was once a rich jungle forest where giant thunderbeasts, little camels the size of sheep once had a holiday? Now, for you to spend one there at camp Hancock you have to be a science instructor or a sponsored student in the field of science with good grades, a sincere desire to know more, plus $65 for two weeks with an additional $5 deposit for your cot, bring along your own sleeping bag and digging tools and better take along a swimming suit and a good singing voice. They furnish the basketball and volleyball and lots to eat, mother nature will furnish the appetite. How many can qualify?

For those who can not, here is an easier, quicker and less expensive way to learn about fossils. This Saturday night at 8 p m is the Morrow County Rock and Mineral club's regular meeting night in Newman's Electric Shop. This may be news to Dr Wagner at this time, but he is sched-

Pork In Excellent Supply

Pork is selling at most attractive prices at your market because the supply is so good. This opens up a panorama of pork dishes that have been the delight of homecoming husbands for generations in America. Get to know the thrifter cuts of pork this season, for dishes that will bless the budget and vary your meals. Thrifty pork buys include the hocks, the shoulder, the end cut pork chops and roasts, the smoked picnics and ham shanks. All these cuts have complete high quality protein, and an extra share of vitamin B₁, for which pork is particularly famed. It's good to know, too, that recent research indicates that cooked meat, as it is produced and prepared today, has significantly less fat, fewer calories and more protein than the values given in current textbooks.

A combination of herb-laced stuffing in juicy pork chops, baked on sweet potatoes, and topped with apples, this is one of those medleys that make history when you serve it to a hungry family. It's the kind of dish you can make ahead, put in the oven, and be free for an hour before dinner!

Baked Stuffed Pork Chops

- 6 1-inch thick rib or loin pork chops
- 6 medium sweet potatoes
- 1 1/2 cups finely diced apple
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon each, sage and thyme
- 1/2 cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 3 apples, cored and halved

Have meat man slit chops for stuffing. Par-boil potatoes; peel and slice lengthwise. While potatoes are cooking, combine apple, raisins, bread crumbs, salt, sugar, sage and thyme. Spoon stuffing into chops; skewer. Brown chops on both sides in skillet, about 15 minutes. Combine brown sugar and nutmeg. Layer sliced potatoes with brown sugar mixture in a 2-quart casserole. Dot with butter. Top with pork chops; pour over orange juice. Place apples over pork chops. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven, (350°F.) 1 hour, 15 minutes. YIELD: 6 servings.

ued to give talks of fossils. I expect before this goes to press the program chairman (his wife) will inform him. Then after the Doctor has confused you, or enlightened you if you have some knowledge of the subject, there will be a 46 minute film on Hidden Treasure. This could be anything that is good and I am sure it is since it was compiled by the Moody Institute and our program chairman has gone to considerable trouble and expense to get it. We will see you Saturday night, Feb 15.

The Harold Evans just returned from Portland and Ora regrets she had no time to go rock slumming, but she did take time to look for supplies we had need of.

Have there been any rock shows this side of the Rockies the past month? If George Miller doesn't bloom out with some new stone at the meeting you will know there hasn't been any. He always brings home something of beauty and interest with him.

Classes are starting on new term papers, practice sets, experiments, word usage, and field trips now, with varied deadlines. The school work, along with extra-curricular activities make up the tight schedule most HHS'ers hold.
