boys and girls from all over Oregon. Delegates representing Morrow county are Janet Wright and Karl Beach. They were selected from outstanding work done in 4-H. Delegates to this conference will be interviewed as a means of selecting the top two boys and girls who will represent our state at national 4-H club conference in Washington, D C in June.

Portland, Oregon will be host to the next national convention of the National Wool Growers Association. The dates are January 26-29, 1959. This gives us nearly a year in which we can help Oregon sheepmen make this an outstanding convention.

United States cattle imports in 1957 total 725,000 head. They were divided about evenly between Mexico and Canada. The United States imported about 343,000 head of cattle from Mexico during the year. This was 22% more than imports in 1956. Heavy demand for stocker and feeder cattle throughout the Southwest encouraged the northern movement of these Mexican cattle.

teams will cover virtually all other communities in the state. Horn reports. Places, dates and hours will be announced well in advance through newspapers, radio stations, and posters.

Taxpayers presently seeking assistance at the commission offices in Salem and Portland are finding little or no delay, he said. As the deadline nears, the waiting lines will grow, necessitating delays in many cases, it was pointed out.

Taxpayers who do not need assistance will also find it advantageous to file early, Horn emphasized. By taking sufficient time in preparation, the taxpayer can avoid mistakes and omissions which might result in a penalty or interest charge. Tax Commission auditors said that late filers make far more mistakes.

In addition, the "early bird" taxpayer who is entitled to a refund on tax withheld from his wages in 1957 will get the refund sooner. Refund returns are handled by the tax commission in the order they are received, consequently the sooner a taxpayer files, the sooner he will get a refund. The first refund check this year was issued February 14, and processing of other returns is on schedule, Horn said.

CARD OF THANKS

Molasses Cookies Rich In Nutrients
 Cookies are always popular, but sometimes they do not carry their full share of protective nutrients. The molasses cookies shown here have a sweet fatty flavor loved by children, and they also have plus food values from the unsulphured molasses, dried fruit, cereal and milk ingredients.

The crinkly topped cookies, called the Big Four, take their name from the four basic food groups suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as needed daily. These four food groups include: fruit and vegetables; meat, poultry, fish and eggs; milk; bread and cereals. After getting foods from these basic groups daily, one supplements the diet with sweets and fats.

Big Four Cookies
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
 1 egg
 1/2 cup dry skim milk solids
 1 cup sifted flour
 1/4 teaspoon each, nutmeg and cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon soda
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1 cup grated carrots or grated raw sweet potatoes
 1/4 cup raisins
 1 1/4 cups rolled oats

Cream together shortening, sugar, unsulphured molasses and egg. Sift together dry skim milk solids, flour, spices, salt, soda and baking powder; stir into creamed mixture. Add grated carrot or sweet potato, raisins, and rolled oats; mix well. Drop by level tablespoons on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400° F.), 10 minutes.
 YIELD: 6 dozen cookies.
