

Lexington News

Mr and Mrs T E Messenger Sr and son Carroll of Mitchell were visiting here. While here they enjoyed a family dinner at the IOOF hall honoring their son and family, Mr and Mrs Gerry Messenger, Mr and Mrs Messenger and infant daughter motored to Lexington last week from California where he is stationed to bring his wife and daughter to Arlington where she will remain while he is serving overseas in Okinawa with the marines. Those attending the dinner were, Mr and Mrs T E Messenger Jr and daughters of Hermiston, Mr and Mrs Franklin Messenger and daughters of Lexington, Mr and Mrs Gerry Messenger and daughter of California, Mr and Mrs Bill B Marquardt and family another daughter, Mr and Mrs Carl Marquardt and family of Lexington, Mr and Mrs Omar Laney and children, Rosetta, Hoyt and Buddy of Arlington and Mr and Mrs E T Messenger, Mr and Mrs Claude Coats, and Mr and Mrs Zearl Gillespie of Boardman.

Mr and Mrs T E Messenger and son Carroll returned home on Sunday after visiting relatives, all motored to The Dalles on Wednesday taking Gerry to the bus there for a trip to San Diego where he will be shipped our course. "Grib" (he was the brave soul) also told us all nine holes should be ready for play this Sunday; and that a small screening device will be erected on what is now the No 1 hole, to help prevent golf balls from damming up the creek. (With my luck they will probably bounce over it.) It was also announced that the women's golf tournament will commence May 12, and that you must register with either Lucille Peck or Bonnie Mattoon before that time.

OVERHEARD: that Ruth Van Winkle and Betty Brown were on the course at 7 am Sunday to play a round of golf before all the men came down. . . that Orville Smith (formerly of Heppner Lumber Company) played our course for the first time Sunday, and was thoroughly impressed. . . Gene Pierce and Jack Bedford telling Bob Penland that when the Country club purchased electric golf carts to ride around the course on, they would be delighted to try the game (such ambition) . . . that one of our more "colorful" golfers had 17 strokes on one hole. . . that Jack Loyd has quite cleverly written 10 golfing commandments which will be posted on the bulletin board.

Next ladies day will be a "fun day" competition, so don't miss it! I hear the links will be something like an obstacle course and it should be quite hilarious. Spectators always welcome.

Well, I must be "putting" along, so look for me again next week over the tee cup.

Over The Tee Cup

By Jackie Labhart

In the words of the immortal Shakespeare (with a slight variation) "To golf or not to golf: that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer through the digging and planting of outrageous yardwork, Or to take "woods and irons" against the conflict of your emotions . . . and go golfing!"

Noticed my neighbor, John Williams, did defy the "lure of the links Sunday, and stayed home to work in his yard. (Such will power-or Vivian-power) Can't say the same for my other neighbor, Creston Robinson . . . he practically lived on the course all weekend. And speaking of the "lure of the links" heard via the partee line that one fellow couldn't even control his new red and white Chevrolet against the magnetic pull of the course. . . even made a new road down over the bluff. "Nuff said!"

Our ladies day attendance is growing by "heaps and mounds".

(And those gophers have dug plenty.) Twenty tee-totalers trudged tirelessly through the thorns and thistles to the terminus. The "tried and true" twenty were Delores McDowell, Polly Doherty, Laurel Cannon, Suzanne Jepsen, Doreen Jacobs, Harriet Hall, Ruth Van Winkle, Bebe Munkers, Cathy Collins, Bonnie Mattoon, Sue Valentine, Cork Norene, Lucille Peck, Betty Brown, Shirley Loyd, Marie McQuarrie, Kay Robinson, Dee Gribble, and Meg Murray.

After we had played the required nine holes we met at the Elks Club lounge for a business meeting. Working gals Elaine George, Jan Downen and Daisy Collins joined us there for lunch. . . but Jan should have stayed at work, for she accidentally (I wonder) had salt in the sugar bowls. After some-what salty cups of coffee, scores were tallied and Sue Valentine had low score for the day and received a golf glove. Shirley Loyd, Cathy Collins and I tied for the lowest number of strokes on the hidden hole, which was No 6 across the tules. Cathy won the toss and three gold plated tees. Believe it or not, I had the lowest number of putts for the nine holes and also won three golf tees. (Probably should use the putter for all my game).

One lone, courageous man braved the womanly aggregation to explain to us proper golfing etiquette (you'd think we weren't polite) and the rules of
