

TWO TEACHERS LEAVE POSITIONS IN HEPPNER SCHOOLS, 3 HIRED

Two Heppner teachers, who last week briefly announced their resignations and plans to retire from teaching, will leave Heppner shortly after the end of the school year. They are Mrs Marie Clary, librarian, and Norman Peters, band and chorus instructor.

Mrs Clary has been high school librarian for the past 15 years and could have retired five years ago, but chose to remain with the school system. She has also taught many subjects including world history, mathematics, US history, English, algebra, geometry and bookkeeping. She plans to move to Oswego where she will go into business with her son.

Peters, who has led the school band and chorus through many music concerts, contest and other events for three years, plans to retire from teaching and move to a farm near Moses Lake, Wn about June 1. In addition to his school classes, he directed the Methodist church choir and during the summer worked for Heppner Pine Mills and the Forest Service.

Three new teachers who have recently signed contracts are Clinton Agee, new basketball coach and high school boys' P E and health teacher. He is a graduate of Pacific University with a BS degree in secondary education and a BA in elementary education. He has been teaching at Ranier this year.

His wife, the former Janet Howton of Ione, has accepted the position of girls' PE and health teacher. She is a graduate of Ione high school and will graduate from Pacific University this June.

Three positions still remain to be filled in the Heppner faculty. They are first grade, band and chorus and librarian.

AS LIQUOR GOES DOWN

Little old Polk County almost won an almost white ribbon last year—comparatively almost.

The Polk hillers had the lowest per capita consumption of hard liquor in the state. With 1.35 per cent of the state's population they did only .54 per cent of the drinking. Polk also spent the least per person for liquor, only $10.32.

That's a forthright record with Salem just across the river and two sessions of the legislature ago in '57.

Could be something in Polk's fine mountain air that keeps the folks from patronizing the state liquor stores heavily.

Could be something in the hills, too.

The heaviest drinkers are in Clatsop county. They exceeded the state average of $25.90 with $40.03 per capita spent for liquor.

PP&L's Swift Dam Now Employing 1200

More than 1200 men are working at Pacific Power & Light Company's Swift hydroelectric project and payrolls will go higher. It was reported Wednesday as the building of the earthfill mass engulfed the cofferdam and the dam formed its own barrier across the Lewis river.

Towering more than 330 feet into the sky, the huge structure already is the highest of PP & L's three dams on the Lewis, according to PP&L president Paul B McKee. When completed later this year, Swift dam will be 512 feet high.

"Work on this large project is two-thirds completed," McKee reported. He noted that placement of earth and rock for what will be the world's highest earthfill dam has topped ten million cubic yards. He said the "vast table-flat top of the huge mass is now higher than both the 313-foot-high Merwin and 323-foot high Yale dams which are located downstream from the Swift project site just west of Mt Adams in southern Washington.

Crews of contractor Jones-Tomkins Co are currently hauling and placing fill material at a rate of 200,000 cubic yards a week. Inside the mountain anchoring the south end of the dam, crews of A J Cheff are positioning 25-foot-diameter steel cylinders for lining of the 1575-foot-long power tunnel. Sides of the 1750-foot-long chute are also being lined with concrete.

Clearing of timber from the 12-mile-long reservoir is being pushed by Rannells Construction Co crews in order to finish the task prior to the summer fire season.

At the block-long powerhouse, crews are installing parts on which will rest the three 68,000-kilowatt turbine-generators. The project will produce an average of 687,200,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity a year for PP&L customers.

Downstream from Swift No 1 powerhouse, crews of Guy F Atkinson & Co have resumed excavation for the 3 1/2 miles of canal which will carry the water to a second powerhouse being built by the neighboring Cowlitz County, Wash, PUD. The 237,000,000 kilowatt-hour average annual output of its two 35,000-kilowatt generators will be sold to PP&L until needed by the publicly-owned district.

lisher of Greater Oregon, Albany, has conceived a remarkable feature that's all-Oregon and probably has never been approached. A great collector of prehistoric fossils, he would have a life-sized high-relief mural at the 1959 show, of animals, birds, fishes and reptiles known to have been indigent of Oregon, modeled and colored as life-like as possible while looking back through 30 million years.

GUARD MOVES IN

U S Senator Wayne Morse informed the governor's office Wednesday that final approval by the Senate Armed Services committee is "routine" for the transfer of three buildings at McNary Field, Salem, to the National Guard.

Army aviation maintenance officers say immediate installation is an order. Eventually 28 planes will be stationed here.

The Guard has had some weekend flying here in the Capitol area and plans to hold a large drill April 27.

TOBACCO AND CANCER

The United States Public Health Service is preparing and publishing a brochure warning the American public that tobacco can cause cancer. Senator Richard L Neuberger has introduced a bill to get the government out of the business of giving price supports to tobacco. He said in an article in the Christian Century: "If ever there was a situation where the left hand knoweth not what the right hand doeth, it is in the policy of the United States Government with respect to tobacco and cigarettes. While one agency of Government warns that cigarettes may be a factor in causing the most terrible disease afflicting the human race another Government agency subsidizes and encourages the growing of the product from which cigarettes are made."

HARVEST LABOR PLANS

There will be no loss in unharvested crops this year as farm labor recruitment programs will be intensified in all state employment offices. Mrs Cecelia P Galey, chairman of the State Unemployment Commission said, Wednesday.

"Most of the harvest will be local residents working individually or in platoon groups," she explained.

At this time there are no Mex-

Aerial Mapping of Area Now Completed

Mapping of Oregon's last remaining unmapped area—a section of Harney and Malheur counties—has been completed by the Oregon State Highway Department according to W C Williams, state highway engineer.

The mapping project is part of a cooperative program involving the Oregon State Highway Department, the U S Geological Survey and the U S Forest Service.

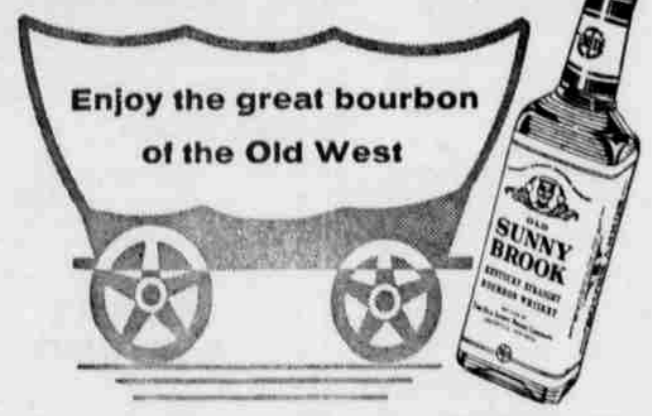

The Highway Department's portion of the mapping project covered an area of 34,000 square miles or 35 percent of the state's area. It covered all or parts of Baker, Crook, Deschutes, Gilliam, Harney, Jefferson, Klamath, Lake, Malheur, Morrow, Sherman, Wasco and Wheeler counties.

The U S Geological Survey mapped the portion of the state west of the Cascade summit. All Forest lands were mapped by the U S Forest Service.

All mapping was done by the modern photogrammetric technique which involves the use of aerial photographs. This method of mapping assures a high degree of accuracy.

Manuscript sheets or finished maps are available for all areas of the state. Finished maps for counties will ultimately be available at a nominal charge, it was reported.
