Show Your Colors Campaign Sponsored By Elks Lodges

John Hartman, exalted ruler of BPO Elks no 358, Heppner today asked all citizens to join in observance of Flag Day, June 14, in a display of unity against the growing menace of communist aggression.

He urged all patriotic citizens to display the Flag at their homes and business establishments on Flag Day in cooperation with the Elks' "show your colors" program celebrating the 181st anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777.

"Krushchev has promised to bury us, and the communist forces are working hard, at home and abroad, to carry out that promise," exalted ruler, John Hartman said. "Old Glory is the symbol of freedom that Krushchev and his fellow tyrants in the Kremlin will destroy if we let them. Let us strengthen our faith in our way of life, and our determination to defend it by honoring our Flag on its birthday."

Elks lodges throughout the nation will pay similar tribute to the Flag as they have since 1907.

Pacific Power Joins In Nuclear Research

Pacific Power & Light Company announced Tuesday it had joined with seven other electric utility companies of the west to form the Rocky Mountain Pacific Nuclear group to participate in studies for achieving an economic method of converting the energy from nuclear fission into electricity for consumers.

The research will be conducted in association with General Dynamics Corporation during a two-year program described as a multi-million dollar effort to advance the development of fission-process atomic power reactors.

"The prime goal of the program is the conception and development of fission reactors capable of producing the high temperatures and pressures required for modern power plant operation," PP&L president Paul B McKee reported. "Because gas cooled reactors give promise of meeting the above conditions in feasible and economic manner, the general atomic division of General Dynamics is placing major emphasis on their development, he said.

An advanced research aim in the field of thermoelectric generation will be in the theory and experiment with thermoelectric phenomena. This work relates to the possibilities of obtaining electricity directly from the heat released when atoms of matter are smashed apart in the fission process confined within a nuclear reactor, the group of utilities announced.

Participating with Pacific Power will be Portland General Electric, Washington Water Power, Utah Power & Light, California Electric Power and Arizona Public Service companies, Public Service Company of Colorado, Public Service Company of New Mexico.

The new group is successor to the Rocky Mountain Nuclear Power Study group, formed in 1954, of which Pacific Power is member. Its studies were centered at the atomic energy commission's Atomic Reactor Development Center at Idaho Falls, Idaho. PP&L was also a member of an earlier industry study group at Hanford Works.

PP&L last year acquired a 9,000-acre tract of land along the Columbia River in Eastern Washington, southeast of Yakima and near the Hanford Works Reservations, for a possible site for a future atomic power plant.
