CAPITAL PARADE
POLITICAL TEMPO SLOW
 This is just a-breathing spell for the Monday morning political quarterbacks.
 Next week when the primary election returns have been rechecked and the vote by counties has been tabulated, the real fine combing statistics will reveal whose political fleas hopped on whom.

The top analytical poser is in the First Congressional District, where Walter Norblad made a decisive victory in the primaries just as he has for the past seven consecutive biennial elections.
 Oregon Republicans are disturbed over their only representative in the congress. Norblad's leads over his Democratic opponents have been slipping for the past six years.
 In 1952 he won over Robert Jones (Dem) with a majority of 65,924.
 In 1954 his lead over Dan Mitchell (Dem) was 40,710.
 In 1956 James Lee (Dem) cut Walter's lead to 18,793.
 Just now there are no measuring sticks for the gubernatorial race between incumbent Robert D Holmes and Secretary of State Mark Hatfield.

STATE PIONEER MUSEUM
 The Oregon State Fair Board is keenly interested in creating a pioneer museum on the Fairgrounds by refurbishing the "Parsonage" built as the nucleus of Salem in 1842, before Salem was Salem and before Oregon country was American territory.
 In this building, still standing in Salem in comparatively good preservation, there were held the strategy meetings which were successful in securing the Americanization of the "New Northwest."
 Bert Brown Barker, Oregon historian of note, names the "Parsonage" as the oldest public building west of Fort Kearney, Kansas. Plans call for furnishing it accurately, as it was in the days of its builders, the early trail-breaking pioneers. No electricity or gas, not even kerosene just candle sticks, whale oil lamps, knot hole bootjacks and other ingenious appliances that were mothered by necessity. All-intriguing to this pushbutton age.

ADVERTISING CENTENNIAL
 Coquille has combined efforts to put a rolling show of the state's position in the lumber industry on the road.
 Governor Holmes said Thursday he had been advised that George Burr, mayor of Coquille and owner of the local lumber company, had answered his appeal for loan of a log truck and log for Oregon Jaycees to parade in Los Angeles at the National Junior Chamber of Commerce convention later this month.

 The log truck and its six-foot-thick, 32-foot long Douglas Fir log was displayed in front of the Oregon Capital Sunday before beginning its journey to Los Angeles June 12. Enroute it will be displayed at San Francisco for a day.

TEACH OUT-OF-DOORS
 With the "Let's Teach in the Out-of-Doors" leaders so timely, we quote what Luther Burbank once said:
 "Every child should have mud pies, grasshoppers, water bugs, tadpoles, frogs, mud turtles, elderberries, wild strawberries, acorns, chestnuts, trees to climb, brooks to wade in, water lilies, wood chucks, bats, bees, butterflies, various animals to pet, hayfields, pine cones, rocks to roll, sand, snakes, huckleberries and hornets. Any child that has been deprived of the best part of these has been deprived of the best part of his education."

Students Chosen For Summer Institute
OREGON STATE COLLEGE— Stevan Flug and Renn Harris of Heppner have been selected to attend the third annual Junior Engineers and Scientists Summer Institute, June 15 to 28, at Oregon State college.
 Renn is the son of Mr and Mrs Mike Saling and Stevan is the son of Mr and Mrs Jack Flug. Both will be seniors in Heppner high school next year.
 Students must demonstrate high scholarship and be recommended by their high school principals to apply.
 The JESSI program, first started in Oregon, has now been adopted across the nation. The program is sponsored by Scientists of Tomorrow, a Portland corporation formed to promote educational activities in science.
