

IN THE SADDLE . . .
With The Wranglers

BY JOHN NEWMAN

Sorry to have missed last week, but then perhaps you didn't notice.

Did you see the parade Saturday night? Looks like we still have a riding club. Did you notice how radiant and lovely the Queen—in fact the entire court was? I'm sure the mayor did—or maybe it was Mike Frigit. I detected a slight tremor in his tone as he said "I crown you Queen." I wish to apologize for riding by at that time and for my horse trying to help out.

I noticed the Dolvens with some of their driving stock but I didn't see Silent Johnston. I guess repairs are slow.

I see Hutch has the old manger torn out and the holes dug for the new one. Time is fleeting. You know it is bad for a horse trader to promise something and not be able to deliver the goods and he is one of us; so let's give him a hand and help him to remain an honest horse trader.

Fred Mankin will show you where the lumber is that the fair board said we could use.

Why didn't we think to enter a float of some sort in the parade? First gets you $25 I see.

Mrs Mankin has the booth, the idea and the theme song for the fair. All she is short is the time to sing it so she is placing the sheet music in the booth so each may sing as they view.

I caught up with the kerchiefs and arm patches. If there are any left you will find them at Bryant's desk. Those not having received any see him and get them ready, for two weeks is a very short time and we all want to turn out for the big parade looking our best.

Wilson's Men's Store has the white shirts and white hats. We will want them again for the cowboy breakfast.

I just heard that Bonnie Barratt is temporarily out of the saddle due to a horse's misplaced hoof print. We hope it was not as bad as we heard Bonnie and that you will be back in the saddle. Did you ever think of getting rid of that horse?

The Fulltons were in Portland which was felt about five horses worth. Sorry you missed it kids. Make the next time, it might get you $7.50.

Let's get fair minded for the next two weeks.

See you around.
