ORBIT HEARING

Who wouldn't be surprised to hear with a pair of glasses you can't see through (not blindfolded, anyway). The fact is this astonished girl is hearing everything with nothing in her ears, thanks to Sonotone's new bone-conduction eyeglass hearing aid. Although nothing is worn in either ear, you can use both ears to hear sounds from every direction around you. This is binaural, or orbit, hearing, the same way that persons with normal hearing listen. Yet everything is concealed in stylish, prescription-fitted glasses.
