The long pole in the hands of this telephone man looks like just the thing for fishing. But it's not a fish he's after; it's trouble. He's giving that cable a "bubble bath," spraying it with a gummy, liquid solution. If the cable is damaged, air will escape through the cracks and form bubbles along the cable. And that's our cue to make repairs swiftly, so your calls won't be affected. In this and many other ways, we keep close tabs on your service. This keeps your phone working more dependably—makes your service better.

These folks have their eyes on a bargain—a whole list of bargains, in fact. They're looking over the out-of-town telephone rates on the inside cover of their phone book. It's interesting to see how many places you can call—for so little money. Why don't you check the sample rates in your directory. And surprise an out-of-town friend or relative with a call tonight.
