Heppner High School SCOOP

By CAROLYN McDANIEL.

Christmas is in the air! The members of the student council hit upon an ingenious idea for adding to the holiday spirit. Every day this week from 4:00 to 6:00 p m. Christmas songs and carols have been broadcast from the high school balcony. Various students are taking turns running the equipment and changing the long-play records. Also contributing to the HHS Christmas scene are the very pretty decorations in the hall. Sophomores put up the decorations and did a very fine job. The Future Homemakers of America club members and their mothers had their Christmas tea on Sunday, December 14. Harold Dobyns of Ione showed the group the pictures he had taken on his trip to Europe last summer. During this party, too, the parents become acquainted with the various projects and goals of the FHA.

Another party, that of the Future Business Leaders of America was held at the high school on Friday, December 12. Members of the chapter met and worked on several current projects. The Christmas candy for Santa Claus's downtown visit to the kiddies was sacked. Also, work on the Christmas concert programs for the grade school and high school both was completed. After the work period refreshments were served. Everyone participated in carolling around town after the party.

The HEHISCH staff recently sent back paper copies to the Columbia Scholastic Press and National Scholastic Press. These two organizations judge the papers entered and then send the criticisms back to the paper. This way the paper can correct its mistakes and improve on its future issues.

On Tuesday, December 16, the Mustangs went and played, but did not conquer. The final score of the Heppner-Ione game, after a three minute overtime, was 50-54. The volleyball squad didn't fare so well, either, as they lost their game with Ione in the afternoon.

On their Wednesday morning program "The Heppner Party Line" radio KUBE in Pendleton presented the Heppner high school chorus singing parts of their Christmas concert. Tuesday, representatives from KUBE came and recorded the songs for the program. On Wednesday night the chorus presented for the townspeople their program "Chimes of the Holy Night" and the HHS band also played several Christmas selections. The chorus consists of approximately 45 voices and featured several soloists at the concert.

CHURCH SCHOOL PROGRAM

All Saints Episcopal church school Christmas program will be held Sunday evening, December 21 at 7:30 p m in the church.

Carl Spaulding and his daughter, Mrs Bill Brannon and Mrs Vern Evans were Portland visitors over the weekend.
