OREGON'S 100TH BIRTHDAY
 Governor Mark Hatfield gave a spiritual message at a Valentine Day prayer breakfast, the first of a series of events celebrating the 100th anniversary of Oregon's statehood. More than a hundred clergymen and laymen of all faiths attended the breakfast at the Senator Hotel, Salem.

The governor said, "I think it is proper that the commemoration of our admission to statehood should begin with this meditation. We have before us today a tremendous challenge, and great problems and decisions are faced by the state and the nation. We need the guidance of religion."

Three of Oregon's principal cities participated in individualistic ways in celebrating the state's centennial birthday: A prayer breakfast at Salem; first day sale and dedication of the 4 cent Oregon stamp at Astoria; ceremonies of pomp and pageantry in the Capitol when Vice President Nixon delivered an address after a cavalcade of dignitaries, headed by Nixon and Gov Mark Hatfield, had been escorted through the Capital City; the vice president and the governor then went to Portland where they attended a special Oregon Valentine Day banquet of the Sons and Daughters of Oregon Pioneers at the United States National Bank of Portland.

Oregon's capital was not short of politics the past week. On Valentine's eve 250 Democrats attended a Democratic $10-a-plate dinner at the Marion Hotel where they applauded vigorously when U S Representative Chas O Porter told them his chief project in the present session of Congress would be "to remove the embargo against trading with the Chinese. Nothing could mean more to Oregon's economy."

He explained that the official U S policy toward dictators in Latin America is now changing, thanks in part to the riots during Nixon's visit and the later visit of Milton Eisenhower.

Speaking of the nation's capital, Porter described Washington as a city of "alcohol and Geritol." CELEBRATES OREGON'S BIRTHDAY
 The District of Columbia officially designated February 14 as "Oregon Day" with ceremonies Friday attended by Hon Robert E McLaughlin, Commissioner of the District, Senator Wayne Morse, Congressman Al Ullman, staff and personnel from the offices of Senator Richard L Neuberger, Congresswoman Edith Green, Congressman Walt

OREGON RACING RUN OK
 Elaborate and thorough core is being taken by the Oregon Racing Commission and it's staff to keep horse and Greyhound racing clean and attractive, according to the findings of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, made Wednesday.

Thaddeus B Bruno, commission chairman reported that Oregon agricultural fairs and other exhibitions which share the revenues from racing have come to rely more upon their share of the receipts from racing.

H S Chapman, Secretary-Comptroller, pointed to the State's percentage of $696,206.69 from greyhounds and $372,792.60 from horses. Cecil L Edwards, Supervisor of Racing, demonstrated to the legislators a new race camera that is final in judging "finishes," faults of jockeys, peramental horses and other infringements in racing. The race can be run backwards or changed into slow motion.

It takes 500-$2 bets to pay for the camera but it pays for itself, on an average, daily.

Racing officials say they are not disturbed by the news that a bill in the Washington Legislature to legalize racing, may result in racing in Vancouver.

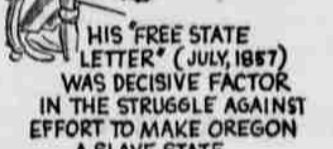

COFFEE HOUR WORK

Evidently Gov Mark Hatfield does not consider state employees overworked, particularly the straw bosses. He has launched a series of "cabinet" meetings for exchange of ideas in state government.

At a meeting Thursday he advised department heads to be personally responsible and fully cooperate with legislative requests and not shuffle off requests on subordinates. He asked department heads to review each vacancy before it is filled and Continued on Page 8
