ODD ENDS . . .

VISITORS

Should anyone have any doubts that Oregon's Centennial is drawing out-of-state visitors, they need only take a short drive over any of the state's major highways such as 30 or 99. Except in the vicinity of towns, an Oregon license is almost a novelty.

Last weekend this writer made the trip to Portland to take in the exposition and while traveling highway 30 the number of out-of-state licenses seen was almost unbelievable. We didn't keep any actual count on the trip, but it is pretty safe to say that over 50% of all cars on the highway were from someplace other than Oregon. California is predominant and we would guess that at least half of all visitors are from our southern neighbor state. Next in order comes Washington followed, according to our unofficial count, by Montana, Idaho, Utah and Texas. Nearly every state was represented and we even saw a couple of licenses from Great Britain. Canada hasn't overlooked us either, with British Columbia, quite naturally, leading the field.

If each of these carloads of visitors will stay in the state just two days, it isn't hard to estimate that they are going to leave a great many millions of dollars in Oregon by the end of the summer. It's just too bad that we didn't have the foresight to have a sales tax in operation by this summer—the state's finances would certainly have been better off.

Speaking of the Centennial Exposition, we had our first look at it last weekend and we weren't disappointed in the least. We won't try to describe it, for it has been done by many at great lengths, but we felt it was well worth the trip. We doubt that anyone could work their way through the trade fair without finding something of particular interest to them. The trade fair too, by the way, will remain for the duration of the exposition.

TO THE EDITOR . . .

Dear Editor:

A short time ago at Ione, the Republican State Chairman, Mr. Peter M. Gunnar of Salem, saw fit to say that the issue facing voters in the second congressional district in 1960 would be Al Ullman's "prolonged vacation in Washington at taxpayers expense."

As a believer in the two-party system I had fervently hoped that Mr. Ullman's opposition could come up with an honest and legitimate issue. Those of us who have watched our present congressman's accomplishments and compared them to records of our past representation know how untrue and dishonest such charges are.

Perhaps the unwillingness of Republican Mr. Benson to go along on the two-price wheat plan, or offer any reasonable program in substitute, along with the results of his administration of the present farm law are making Mr. Ullman's opposition desperate for a diverting issue. The facts are that Mr. Benson has spent more money than all

A new bulletin entitled "Shrinkage Is Important" published by the Montana State College recently came to my desk. It is an excellent one explaining cattle shrinkage and the factors which affect both buyer and seller. Discussed in the bulletin on bargaining for weighing conditions as well as price gimmicks, kinds of shrink, weight changes during the day, alternative sale methods, and tricks in the trade. Each year we hear of a number of different weighing conditions in cattle bought or sold. Those who are not sure of shrinkage and how to determine a good selling deal would do well to get a copy and study it. We have ordered additional bulletins which we should receive soon.

We have known for some time that Morrow county was highly productive as far as the many commodities which we grow, however, we found out this past week that there is another crop that does exceptionally well. This new crop is pond-reared Kamloops trout. 1 1/2 - 2 inch trout released May 9 in ponds at the Don Greenup ranch have reached 5 1/2 to 6 inches in slightly over two months since their release. Trout normally are expected to grow 1 inch per month. At this pace trout raising will be interesting where released in the dozen or more ponds here in the county. Approximately 15,000 were planted this spring which will make a lot of good eating with this rate of growth for late this fall and early next spring.

Many ranchers unhappy with this year's barley support prices will be consoled by the report that barley supplies throughout the country are somewhat smaller than usual. California's 1959 barley crop is expected to be fully a tenth lighter than last years which was a small one too. Mid-west barley is reported damaged from drought, insects and disease to the extent that quality is expected to be reduced. With this picture in mind perhaps barley prices will stay substantially above the support price as demand strengthens later this fall. It would be a good idea to put barley under loan and keep your eye on market prices.

Miss Reita Neel of Heppner will be queen of the 1929 Heppner Rodeo, according to announcement made today by C W McNamer, president of the rodeo association.

George Howard, assistant manager in the local branch of J C Penney company, arrived home in Heppner on Monday, from his two weeks vacation spent at Pomeroy, Wash., Portland and Seaside.

summer "battle with bugs" has been published by Oregon State College extension service. The illustrated 12 page booklet, "Veg- etable Garden Insect Pests," contains drawings and descriptions of insects, describes the damage they do, and lists pest control measures. A copy is available at this office.

Fast slipping prices for hogs with grain prices still remaining high urges those raising hogs to cut every corner possible to come out with a profit during the next several months that the hog prices are predicted to be low. One of the important feed saving suggestions is pre-farrowing feeding of recommended feed to the sows to get more pigs farrowed at 1 1/2 pounds won't make weaning. Nor will half of the pigs farrowed at weights up to 2 1/2 pounds. But more than 9 of every 10 pigs farrowed at 3 pounds or better are weaned. A good ration for brood sows consists of 30 pounds of barley or wheat, plus 30 pounds of ground oats and 30 pounds of sun cured alfalfa meal. To this add 8 pounds of protein supplement made up of 4 pounds soy bean meal and 4 pounds of pankeage. Add to the mixture 2 pounds of a simple mineral mixture. Sows should not be allowed to get too fat. 6 pounds feed per day is ample. If sows are getting too fat cut down on the barley or wheat and increase the proportion of ground oats or alfalfa. It is estimated that overlaying of new pigs by sows still costs the lives of 1/10 of all pigs farrowed — an incredible waste, which can be prevented when farrowing pens are aligned with sturdy guard rails or when farrowing stalls are used.

The agent is attending a range conference of eastern Oregon agents near Silvies in Harney county on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. During the work shop-hour various range improvement methods will be observed including reseeding and proper management.

I experienced quite a thrill last Sunday — I saw Lawrence Welk and his champagne music makers in person at the Portland exposition. I have long been a Lawrence Welk fan — even before he began his famous TV series. You see, Lawrence was born and raised in my home state of North Dakota and I can remember when he used to play over WNAX, the Yankton, South Dakota radio station.

His TV program soon became a family favorite of all the mid-west people who remembered him, and all the other people in the country who like to listen to his danceable music.

The temperature was sweltering in the Portland arena, but I would estimate that 3500 saw him during the first Sunday afternoon performance. The sale of hand fans skyrocketed as everyone purchased and fanned in time with the toe-tapping music of Welk's men.

There was some disappointment when Mr. Welk announced that Alice Lon, the Little champagne lady, and the Lennon sisters had not accompanied him. (Alice Lon has quit the show, I hear, and the Lennon sisters had an engagement at Atlantic City). But three young members of his junior band accompanied him and helped make the show, which was patterned pretty much after his TV shows, a great success.

I saw just enough of the Oregon exposition to know that I must return and really see all the wonderful displays and exhibits.

Speaking of Portland — our extension unit members will be going to Portland in October to attend the national home demonstration council convention which will include all of the United States, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

General sessions are to be held in the civic auditorium —

the Multnomah hotel is the convention headquarters. Even Oregon's governor, Mark Hatfield, will speak at this convention. A tour to Hawaii is planned after the convention for those who wish to continue their travel.

Members of the editing committee of the "Morrow County History" met last Friday with members of the county committee in the Lexington Grange hall to read to them the fruits of their re-editing. The editing committee has really worked hard to include all outstanding events that made Morrow county what it is today.

It will be printed by early fall, but plans are made to solicit orders for this history at both the Morrow county fairs in Heppner and Boardman so that an estimate can be made of how many copies need to be printed. Copies will sell for $1.00.

As soon as the publicity plans get underway an order blank will be inserted in the Gazette-Times so that you may order them directly if you wish.

Fair time will soon be with us. We've scheduled a "4-H help day" on Thursday, July 30, to help 4-H youngsters polish up on their demonstrations. Miss Frances Harvey, Umatilla county agent, will be on hand to help us give pointers on how they can improve before fair time. Meeting will begin at 2 p m in the Annex building of the fair pavilion, Heppner.

Johnny Walters of Cincinnati, Ohio is visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. John Healy at the ranch on Buttercreek.

Mrs. E. L. Knight of Union is visiting this week at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Glennie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Chapin were Portland visitors Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gentry of Bend were visiting over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Stott.

Dad's a "Budding" Genius

Time to start planting flowers again, so here's a few details about the Fowler Garden Preservation System.

Youngsters used Dad Fowler's garden as a short cut to the playground. He had a tough time keeping them out until he started a new system.

He called the small fry together and had them print their names on cards. The cards were put on stakes near every clump of flowers. Right away, each kid began to root for "his" particular plants to come up first, voluntarily kept trespassers off "his" area — and Dad's garden thrived!

From where I sit, there's a system for just about everything... even for getting along with people! The best one I know is tolerance. It means respecting your neighbor's preferences as well as your own. For instance, I prefer an occasional glass of beer with dinner. You may like iced tea. If we accept each other's choice, we're on our way to making our friendship "flower."
