"Didn't it rain, O Brother, didn't it rain?" — at the Pendleton Round-Up on Saturday that is! My sister, Adelheid, and I went over to the famous Pendleton Round-Up on Saturday afternoon and experienced quite a soaking along with several thousand other rodeo enthusiasts. The majority of the people sat right through the downpour using blankets, newspapers, and every available material for a little protection. What surprised me—the rodeo went on—in spite of "hell or high water!"

I really hadn't planned to take in the "Round-Up" this year as I did see it in 1958. But while attending the Oregon Centennial in Portland on Labor Day I was lucky enough to win a free ticket at the Umatilla county booth. So who am I to turn down a free ticket?

I thoroughly enjoy the big Pendleton shindig each year. I still say the Indians make the Pendleton Round-Up more colorful and superior than any other rodeo I've seen.

On Tuesday of last week I sat in on a meeting of the Pendleton Grain Growers women's auxiliary meeting at the REA building in Hermiston. Women from both Morrow and Umatilla counties belong to this organization and I find they are endeavoring to promote wheat consumption by corresponding with women from foreign lands. Several are writing to women in England and their letters were read. (Reminds me of the A C W W work of our extension units.)

The afternoon was spent in the teaching of "pine-needle" weaving which seems to be a craft that is catching on fast in the state. Long pine needles are woven with the raffia into lovely baskets, trays, etc. It is a craft that has appeal because of the use of local material. If there is sufficient interest in the county perhaps we can schedule a "pine-needle" workshop this winter.

Speaking of foreign letter exchanges—the Morrow county extension units have been corresponding with homemakers in Hawaii for the past year. So much

ROCK HOUND'S CORNER

By BETTY WAGNER

The Rock Hounds are going again! Several of the club members were able to attend the National Gem Fair held at Portland over Labor Day weekend so at our meeting last Saturday evening at the home of Dr and Mrs C M Wagner, we had a good time discussing the many displays at the fair that were of particular interest to us.

There was so much to see that was of awe-inspiring beauty that we were very grateful to have had the opportunity to attend such an event. The Smithsonian Institute showed a single cut and polished gem stone, Beryl, measuring about 5 inches long by 2 inches high and approximately 1 1/2 inches thick. The stone was valued at 2,054 carats. The beautiful lapidary work and the many crystal displays showed that rock hounding is becoming one of the fastest growing and one of the most fascinating and rewarding of present-day hobbies.

Following the close of the National Gem Fair, a specially planned six day rock hunt was enjoyed by many "hounds". Doc and Mrs Babb were among those lucky people and they showed us some of their trophies and told of their experiences in obtaining these specimens.

I understand there were about 51 cars in the caravan which visited the happy hunting grounds around Prineville and from there went on to Wild Cat mountain, Glass Butte (obsidian interest has been created in our 50th state that it will be the topic for the October unit meetings. A project training meeting for "A Study of Hawaii" is scheduled this Friday, September 25 at the Pine City school beginning at 10:30 a m. (Bring a sack lunch—coffee will be furnished.)

This will be a travelogue type of a lesson with motion pictures and colored slides along with items from Hawaii such as muumuus, seed jewelry, monkey pod dishes, grass skirt and all. A dish of Hawaiian curry will also be prepared for the women to sample.

We should have a better understanding of our neighbors to the west after this meeting.

country), Maury Mountain, Warm Springs Reservoir and Sucker creek. The tour also took in points of interest as far away as Weiser, Idaho where some very beautiful red nodules were found on Beacon Hill. Doc Babb also showed a cut and polished thunder egg with a very nice ocean scene in it.

The Bell Telephone film "Our Mister Sun" and a Moody Bible Institute film on crystals, were shown and the evenings program was concluded with refreshments.

The next meeting will be on Oct 17 at the Hubert Wilson home.
