Heppner Scout Troop Slates New Projects

The Boy Scouts are starting projects to earn merit badges. Some are making a wooden chain, others are making belts etc. We made a motion to give a play for the P-TA meeting but the idea was overlooked because Donny Keeling said they would have to wait till next year. Every Boy Scout will receive a Boys Life magazine monthly from the dues of which he has paid.

There will be more activities when our troop enlarges, but at present is at a stand still. What our troop needs is more boys to join and come and see what we are doing at our scout meetings.

Our schedule runs so we have time to have our meeting and discuss our business, and still have time for working on our projects and playing games. Our troop has 10 Boy Scouts that have been coming to the meetings lately.

The Wolf patrol made a bulletin on helping get boys to join the scouts and there will be some in quite a few places around town so look for it.

Avery Taylor, our Scout Master, ordered some carving craft sets and leather, copper and bead craft. Friday the Wolf patrol met to do some carving and Monday was the Moose patrols night. Watch for the flags we are putting up for Veterans Day.
