

'GREAT DECISIONS' STUDY GROUPS AGAIN BEING PLANNED IN COUNTY

Wanted: Oregonians to join their friends in forming Great Decisions discussion groups. "Only requirement" says Esther Kirmis, Morrow county extension agent, "is an interest in key foreign policy issues facing the U S in 1960 and a desire to study facts to arrive at an informed opinion."

Study groups that follow the national Great Decisions discussion outline will meet weekly during February and March according to Miss Kirmis.

Great Decisions discussion groups give participants an opportunity to gain a deeper understanding of current foreign affairs. Small, informal discussion groups are the heart of the program through which individuals form their own opinions on U S foreign policy and report their opinions to policy makers in Washington.

Discussion topics for the forthcoming nationwide study of foreign policy are: Communist timetable for 1960, Divided Europe, Red China on the March, India's Middle Way, Hope for Stability in the Middle East, Goals for Africa, Cuba's Revolution, and U S Global Strategy.

Fact sheets giving background information on the topics are prepared by the Foreign Policy Association (FPA), a nationwide, nonpartisan educational agency. FPA's fact sheets this year will present three viewpoints on each of the eight topics, America's the communists', and the country involved.

At the end of each discussion, participants will record their own decisions on individual ballots. Summary of opinion ballots cast in Oregon will be sent to the U S state department.

County Great Decisions councils are being reactivated now through the state to help organize the 1960 program and make study materials available to discussion groups. Each study group organizes and runs itself but can look to the County Council for help.

Last year more than 400

groups organized in Oregon. There were four in Morrow county. The program also was carried to Heppner high school social studies classes. Each issue will be reviewed by Oregon newspapers, television and radio stations throughout the state.

Bruce Blake, FPA assistant regional director, San Francisco, suggests that many existing groups might want to discuss Great Decisions topics each week. Possibilities might be bridge clubs, car pools, business people who lunch together, firemen, church groups, and any others who would like to study and share their views on U S foreign policy, he said.

Great Decisions is co-sponsored in Oregon State College extension service and the general extension division of the state systems of higher education in cooperation with the FPA, the state department of education, state library, and some 25 statewide organizations.

"For further information about the 1960 Great Decisions program contact the Morrow county agent's office", Miss Kirmis says.

New Telephone Directory Due Soon

"Oregon Land of Contrasts" is the theme Pacific Telephone has chosen for the Heppner telephone directory cover in 1960, according to manager D A Short.

The 1960 telephone book covers will feature four natural color pictures of Oregon's scenic beauty. Mount Hood, Crater Lake the Oregon Coast and a wheat field were selected to portray the state's variety.

Covers on Pacific Telephone directories for 1960 for all other Oregon communities will feature the same natural color pictures. More than 37,800 copies of Oregon telephone books will be distributed for use throughout the United States and Canada.

"The colorful treatment of the directory cover will act as a continual reminder to Oregonians of our state's many attractions," Short said. "The pictures will also tell thousands of potential tourists of the unlimited beauty of Oregon."

Heppner's 1960 directory will start arriving in December.

The argonaut, or peper nautilus, is an octopuslike creature that sails the sea in a shell boat, the National Geographic Magazine says. The arms of the female have glands which secrete calcium carbonate, forming a delicate, pearly-white, fluted shell to hold her eggs. Female argonauts grow up to a foot in length, but the males seldom exceed half an inch.
