WHAT'S DOING

Meet Lillian Buell, a service representative in one of our telephone business offices. Like service reps everywhere, she answers questions or requests when people call in about their service. We wanted you to meet her because she's typical of the people we like to have working for you—bright, personable, and likes to help others. Naturally, she got plenty of special training before she took over her service desk. There are six service representatives in our Pendleton office who are always happy to hear from you and help you with any problem you may have.

and hostess. Mr and Mrs Floyd Smith of Gilde, Ore are spending a few days with her parents, Mr and Mrs O G Breeding.

You know that wire that runs from your phone to the pole outside? It's called a drop wire. With lots of new phones going in, you've probably seen phone men hooking up these wires. Most always, they have a few small pieces left over. Do they throw these pieces away? Not at all! These "leftovers" are put together into lengths of wire we can use somewhere else. We do it by melting the leftovers down, along with other scrap metal and cable pieces. And you'd be surprised . . . just from this reclaimed metal alone we get hundreds of miles of new wire every year. So you see, just like a budget-minded housewife we make good use of our scraps!

LOOK magazine readers may have seen the article about the Los Angeles "Family Housing Conference" attended by 100 builders. These builders asked a panel of 28 home-owners (23 women and 5 men) for their opinions on everything from doorknobs to landscaping—to telephones. And the ladies agreed: a kitchen phone is "an absolute necessity". One woman added, "We have four telephones at our house, and when I put them in I was criticized by my husband, who does some traveling. We have one in the kitchen, the basement, living room, and one upstairs in my bedroom. But when my husband calls home on his trips, all three of us get on the phones and talk to him and he talks to all of us at once, now he says, ". . . it's worth it!" Pacific Telephone

Who Runs Our Bank?

We're always glad to answer that question. It gives us a chance to say again that our bank is operated by local businessmen.

We believe that to understand a community and its problems best, a banker and his directors should live at home. Participating in civic enterprises and knowing their neighbor enables them to employ the deposits of the bank wisely and profitably.

That's our idea of the way to do business.
