WHAT'S DOING

Safety's always in style at the telephone company. And though telephone man Don Bandoni may not look it, he's dressed for safety from the top of his hardhat to his climbing boots. Those glasses aren't to correct his eyesight, they're strictly for protection. So are the insulated rubber gloves, safety belt, and other equipment he carries. The special safety devices Don and other phone men have for each job pays off for them and their families, of course. Pays off for you, too, because safe jobs are good jobs—and good jobs attract the capable men like Don Bandoni who keep your service working right.

If you were to guess what is being held in this hand, what would you say it is? A new kind of paper clip? A hairpin? Actually, it's a thermistor, and I'm told it is one of the most sensitive temperature measuring devices known to science. Thermistors first saw the light of day back in the 1930's at the Bell Telephone Laboratories. And they are used by the millions in the telephone business as automatic volume regulators for your telephone service. Recently, thermistors have been carried in satellites and used by medical scientists to take temperatures inside human hearts. Proves that not all space-age ideas are new ones and, when you read about thermistors, you realize how many different ways telephone science works for all of us.

When was the last time you had a phone visit with an out-of-town relative or friend? And how many times have you meant to write, but just never got around to it? Well, nothing's easier than picking up the phone right now and catching up on all the news. I'll bet you'll both get a big kick out of a phone call. Some folks even set aside a certain night every week or so just for a phone visit. That way their call is expected and they can save on the even lower station-to-station rates after 6 p.m. Pacific Telephone

IT'S FUN-TASTIC

STEP IN IT—

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

- Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.
- Butyl rubber body mounts—Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road.
- Body by Fisher—Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.
- Foam cushioned seats—Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one.
- Safety-Girder frame—X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.
- Hydraulic valve lifters—Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper.
- Cushioned steering shaft—A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel.
- Precision balanced wheels and tires—Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital area—tire life is longer, too.
- Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.
- Superior weight distribution—Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.
- Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.
