

Carol Schaad Is Queen Of Annual Riverside Prom

By MARY LEE MARLOW

Carol Schaad was crowned queen at the first annual prom of Riverside high school held Saturday night in the school gymnasium. Her escort was Kurt Gantenbein. Michael Taylor was master of ceremonies and crowned the queen. Princesses and escorts were Susan Partlow and Ivan Kress, Jean McKenzie and Basil Beeler, Gracia Stewart and James Brothers, Norma Gollyhorn and Steve Smith, Mary Sanders and Rodney Flug, Patty Strutz was flower girl, and Ronnie Baker was crownbearer.

Theme of the prom was "Isle of Golden Dreams." Small tables around the edge of the floor had little palm trees and candle lamps as centerpieces. Blue streamers with silver stars formed a lowered ceiling and in one corner a volcano effect was formed with blue sky, silver stars and a golden moon behind it. In front was sand and two palm trees with coconuts, and in front of this crepe paper was formed to resemble water. In another corner was a grass shack, with sand in front, and two palm trees, with a fire that held a pot on three sticks from which the punch was served. Cups were on a nearby stump. The theme song, "Isle of Golden Dreams," was in gold and white letters on the blue stage curtain.

Names of the seniors were on white paper on the trophy case in the entrance hall.

Music was furnished by Matt Svetich's orchestra, a part of the Rod Esselstyn Orchestra.

Oregon Farm Prices Pattern Outlined By OSC Economists

Oregon farm prices held steady in April, in contrast to national farm prices which moved up a notch. However, farm prices in the state still stand nearly 5 percent above a year ago and the highest for any April since 1953, reports Mrs Elvera Horrell, extension agricultural economist at Oregon State College.

The farm price index in the state held unchanged. An upturn in prices farmers received for their crops was offset by a downturn in prices they received for livestock and livestock products, Mrs Horrell found as she studied reports from the U S Department of Agriculture.

Across the nation, farm prices

PATHFINDERS CLUB

Ten Heppner Trail Blazers and six staff members of the Pathfinders spent last Sunday at the Moses Lake high school, where the Pathfinders clubs in the upper Columbia conference of the Seventh Day Advent church, met for field events and booth displays, of the various club crafts and projects of the past year.

The Trail Blazers won a blue ribbon in speed knot tying and first aid bandaging. The Heppner booth won second place ribbon. The theme for the fair was "handicraft develops wholesome leisure time activities". Leo Likely, Jr won for the club a third place ribbon when he made a flame from flint spark in less than sixty seconds.

The Trail Blazers speed knot team was Bob Hager, David Clark, Marianne Huber, Jan Hager and Simon Winters. First aid bandaging team, Leo Likely, Jr, Simon Winters, Marianne Huber, Jan Hager, Maralee Murray and Alvin Mahan.

Other members in attendance were Linda Kay Clark and Curtis Ross.

Club staff are, director, Mrs Harold Huber; deputy director, Bob Snow and Dr Darrel Martin; councilors, Shirley Silcox, Leo Likely, Sr and Mrs Tom Ross.

Other field events were in marching drill, semaphore signaling, axmanship and kite flying. Surprise event was field bowmanship by a Coeur d'Alene bowman club with Bert Bangle as master of ceremonies.

climbed as prices on eggs, potatoes, hogs, corn, and cotton turned upward. Only partially offsetting these increases were lower prices on milk, strawberries, oranges, and some vegetables. As a result, national farm prices stand one percent above April 1959.

Costs of things farmers use also moved up during the month to another new all-time high, Mrs Horrell said. The index of prices paid by farmers for commodities and services, including interest, taxes, and farm wage rates, rose nearly one percent during the month ending April 15 to a level one percent above a year earlier.

With prices received and prices paid by the nation's farmers up the same amount during April, farm product purchasing power held unchanged last month.

This left the parity ratio—the government's yardstick for measuring the relationship between prices received and prices paid by farmers—at 80 last month, the same as a month earlier but 2 points below April of a year ago, Mrs Horrell added.
