"OVER THE TEE CUP"

By JACKIE LABHART

Fifteen fearless golfers made the jaunt to John Day this last weekend despite the rain, snow, sleet, hail and wind; and if I have left out any elements of weather, they were also present at the tournament play Sunday. Those braving the atmospheric conditions were the Bob Frinks, the Ted Palmateers, the Eddie Gundersons, Clint McCarrie, the Harry O'Donnels, the Phil Mahoneys, the Conley Lanhams, and the Lowell Gribbles. "Grib" carded low gross score for the Heppner golfers and Eddie had low net score.

JOHN DAY JOTTINGS: Phil wondering if the end was ever going to come (of the course that is) . . . Dee playing her nine holes with a slight case of pneumonia" . . . Vi shooting a 55 (which is plenty good for that long course) . . . the food at the club house was excellent.

We managed to play our nine holes ladies day before the rains came, but the fairways certainly showed effects of the rains having been there already. The girls playing were Cork Norene, Jayne Frink, Vi Lanham, Hazel Mahoney, Faye Ruhl, Ruth VanWinkle, Kay Robinson, Maxine Gray, Dee Gribble, Jean Marshall, Marie McQuarrie and myself. New golf balls were given to Maxine for having high gross score and for making the most putts on the nine holes and I had the lowest number of strokes on the hidden hole which was No. 7. Faye had low net score 49-21-28 which entitled her to the free lunch given by chef Herb Hamilton of the Wishing Well.

LADIES DAY OBSERVATIONS: Hazel parring the no 5 hole despite a penalty stroke . . . Jean shooting a 47 for the first round on our course . . . Kay's disposition about as gray as the sky above when she came in for lunch (said she thought she would just stick to knitting) . . . Jayne with troubles, troubles, troubles.

OVERHEARD: that Raymond Ferguson and his son-in-law, Bob Kelly played 36 holes Saturday

(now that's quite a bit of golf for one day) . . . that Dick Meador and Matt Hughes are two new victims of "golffitis" (do hope the "fever" stays with them).

That's all in the tee cup this week as there has been so much water around lately that the ingredients have been somewhat diluted.
