ROCK HOUND'S CORNER

By BETTY WAGNER

Our meeting was called to order at the Harold Evan's ranch home last Saturday evening, June 25. Guests are always welcome at our meetings, and we enjoyed having several with us.

There will be no more regular monthly meetings during July and August, but plans for late summer activities were discussed and interesting correspondence from rock clubs in various parts of the United States was read.

Resolutions to the by-laws of the Northwest Federation of Mineralogical Societies were voted upon by the local members, so that our delegates to the late summer federation meeting in Eugene will know how the club wishes them to vote.

One of our guests, Mrs Alice Anderson, showed us a unique wrought iron patio lamp, with thin slices of colorful agates, woods, bones and shells cemented on the inside of the glass panes of the lamp. You can imagine the beauty displayed when the lamp was turned on—very much like stained glass windows. Mrs Anderson also described coffee tables made with the rock slices cemented underneath the clear glass table tops and a light arranged underneath to shine up highlighting the natural colors of the stones. She also had some very interesting fossil specimens for our collections.

Our evening's films were very nice—the first was the Bell Telephone Hour orchestra in rehearsal and "On the Air" with guest artists, Blanche Thebom and Ezio Pinza. The second film, Bell Telephone Solar Battery, showed man's progress in using the sun's rays to energize a battery, the effectiveness of which is made possible by the use of pure silicon dioxide in its manufacture. By the way, even the plates used by our hosts, Mr and Mrs Evans, to serve our lovely refreshments on were made of silicon dioxide—quartz sand—the basis of all lovely glassware.

Mrs Choicy Vandetta returned home Monday evening, after a visit at the Tom Ross home below Heppner. She also attended the wedding of Miss Kathleen Mackle of Nevada to Mr Lawrence Ross, son of Mr and Mrs Ross, which was held in Pendleton Advent church June 11. Tom Ross was well known around here when he ran the M and R Logging camp here and at Hamilton.

Mrs Bud Engle and Miss Barbara Wheeler of Courtrock spent Wednesday in town visiting at the Earl Lewis and Fred McWillis homes.

Mrs Ray Davis left Sunday afternoon for Portland where she will stay with her daughter and family, Mr and Mrs Tom Erhardt and son for a visit.

Mrs Mary Wright of Rhea Creek came in Sunday morning and got her mother, Mrs Wave Jackson, taking her back home with her where she spent the week. Mary brought her home Friday noon.
