Why you should follow this Sensible Morning Glory Control Program in 1960

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

• An effective morning glory control program provides field-scale elimination of the weed, eradication of patches to prevent infestation or reinfestation of cropped lands, all at reasonable cost. No program of morning glory control has proved more efficient—measured either by results or cost—than the Amchem Morning Glory Control Program.

STEP ONE

Spray field-scale morning glory infestations with WEEDONE 638, a special 2,4-D formulation for morning glory control. First application will provide measurable reduction of the weed. Complete kill will result from repeated spraying. The number and frequency of treatments necessary will vary with the heaviness of the infestation. Because WEEDONE 638 is systemic in action, it leaves no harmful soil residues. Its low volatility means no vapor damage to nearby susceptible crops. Its low cost makes repeated field-scale application economically practical.

STEP TWO

For existent patch infestations of morning glory along fence rows, in drainage ditches and on other non-cropped land areas, use BENZAC, the double action morning glory killer that kills both through leaf and root absorption. BENZAC remains in the soil to kill morning glory seedlings. The most effective morning glory killer ever developed, BENZAC is a liquid formula, mixes readily with water for ease in use and handling.

This program may be varied to fit the infestation. If fields are widely and heavily infested follow both steps thoroughly. If cropped lands are free of morning glory but spots of morning glory in surrounding or nearby areas threaten cultivated fields, use only Step Two.

Start your control program now and end your morning glory problems for good with WEEDONE 638 and BENZAC!

What did Susan learn in school today?

Did she learn the values of thrift and responsibility? How to make dimes and quarters add up to dollars?

These are some of the valuable lessons your child can learn through the U.S. Treasury's School Savings Program.

By putting their dimes and quarters into U.S. Savings Stamps, thousands of American children are saving toward the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds—one of the best investments any of us can make.

If your child's school isn't already participating in this important program, you can help get it started. Just write to your Savings Bonds State Director, or to the Savings Bond Division, U. S. Treasury Department, Washington 25, D.C.
