

BUICK'S NEW LIGHTWEIGHT SPECIAL

Big car comfort and styling are combined with the economy of the small car in Buick's new lightweight Special four-door sedan, powered by the first American aluminum V-8 engine in the automobile industry. The Special is mounted on a 112-inch wheelbase, is 168 inches long and weighs only 2,700 pounds, some 1,600 pounds lighter than conventional-size Buicks. Its high compression V-8 engine develops 155 horsepower, giving it outstanding performance comparable to the bigger models in the Buick line. The Special comes in two body styles, a four-door sedan and a four-door wagon, with a deluxe version offered in each. A new dual-path turbine drive transmission is offered as optional equipment, along with power steering, and air-conditioning.

Forest Seedlings To Be Available In November

The Oregon State Board of Forestry has announced that nearly seven million forest tree seedlings will be available to tree planters throughout the state during the 1960-61 planting season from the two state nurseries, one near Corvallis and the other near Elkton, according to Assistant State Forester, Don Maus. This does not include several million trees which will go into rehabilitation and reforestation of state owned lands, he added.

Production this year includes 21 different species which will provide growing stock adapted to nearly all climatic conditions in the state and to meet most requirements such as windbreaks and shelterbelts or growing the various forest products such as Christmas trees and merchantable timber crops on both the woodland and regular forest areas, Maus added.

Trees include both the eastern and western Oregon varieties of the Douglas fir as well as the noble, white, grand and Shasta firs; ponderosa, Scotch, Austrian, lodgepole and maritime pines; Port Orford and incense cedars; Sierra redwood; Chinese arbutus, and Norway spruce. Hardwoods include the black locust, caragana, Russian olive, Chinese elm and casahuate.

"Actual time of shipping the trees is somewhat indefinite at the present time," Maus stated. "It will be governed by weather conditions. The trees cannot be removed from the beds until they are hardened off and the ground is sufficiently moist to permit digging without damage to the root system. It will probably be some time after the middle of November."

The forester added that the order blanks will indicate trees available and shipping procedures. These will be in the hands of the various forestry field headquarters and the county agents' offices shortly before the end of October.

Woodland owners or others desiring instruction or advice in their tree planting problems should get in touch with the local farm forester or the nearest state forestry department field headquarters.

OSC Issues Bulletin On Soaps, Detergents

Ease back-to-school laundry loads through wise choice of cleaning agents, a knowledge of home water supplies, fabrics, and the family washer.

Homemakers who study a new Oregon State College extension service bulletin, "Today's Soaps and Detergents," will find answers to many of their laundering questions. Copies are free on request at county extension offices.

Latest research is reported on soaps, detergents, water conditioners, softeners, and water hardness.

Author Bernice Strawn then suggests to homemakers ways they can apply these facts to home laundry equipment. Miss Strawn is extension home management specialist and former equipment editor for Woman's Home Companion.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mahoney were in Seattle this last weekend to attend the Washington-Navy game.

Morrow County Histories Still On Sale

Mrs. John Bergstrom, treasurer of the County Extension committee announces that there are still about 200 copies of "Yesteryears of Morrow" on hand at the Heppner Gazette-Times office.

"If you haven't gotten a copy yet, why not do it now," urges Mrs. Bergstrom. "They would make fine Christmas or birthday presents to people who used to live in the county."

"Yesteryears of Morrow" was a centennial project of the Morrow County Extension Units. Each group gathered historical data of their own community and it was compiled and edited into a fine history. Copies sell for $1.00.

If you live outside of Heppner, you can contact the following county committee women for a copy: Mrs. Warren McCoy, Irrigon; Mrs. Willard French, Echo; Mrs. Randall Martin, Heppner; Mrs. Paul Warren, Heppner; Mrs. Ed Baker, Lexington; Mrs. Earl Briggs, Boardman; Mrs. John Bergstrom, Heppner.

Salad Making Tips Told in Bulletin

A master salad maker in every Oregon home is the theme of a new Oregon State College extension circular "Adventures in Salad Making."

The new bulletin is for cooks who want to use imagination in creating easy new salad combinations—from ingredients already on the pantry or refrigerator shelf.

Many tricks of the trade have been listed by author, Mrs. Ruth Klippstein, OSC extension nutritionist. For example, pierce the big end of an egg shell before hard-cooking to reduce cracking. Suggestions for handling greens so they reach the table fresh and crisp are also listed.

Recipes for blue cheese, low calorie and low cost dressings fill the last three pages of the bulletin. It is punched for easy insertion into looseleaf cookbooks. Copies are available at county extension offices.

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Evans are Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Fehmerly of Portland and on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Kari of Pendleton.

Home Extension Unit Will Meet With Mrs. Munkers

The next meeting of the Heppner Extension Unit will be at the home of Mrs. Riley Munkers on Tuesday, Oct. 11, starting at 1:30 P. M.

Project leaders, Grace Drake and Gladys Connor will present the subject of "Food Labels Tell The Inside Story". Each member is reminded to bring a guest to the meeting.
