Leah Winters and Edgar C. Olson Married September 25 In Heppner Ceremony

Leah Winters, daughter of Mrs. Paul J. Winters, Pasco, Wash., became the bride of Edgar C. Olson, son of Mrs. Marion Olson of Heppner, on Sept. 25 in Heppner home of the groom.

The double-ring afternoon ceremony was read by the Rev. McGhee of the First Methodist Church of Heppner. The given in marriage by her were a ballerina-length tulle dress with a matchless headdress. She wore a veil of Sahra crystals that fell to the groom's great-mother. She carried a white with white roses and a blue maid of honor was Paul Anderson, sister of the groom.

She wore a ballerina-blue dress and carried a nosegay of white glads pink roses in the center of the glads.

The man was Cpl. Charles M. Lee, brother of the bride. Lee Olson was in charge of the guest book.

The scheme in the room was read by two white baskets of pink glads with large bows. The reception was at the home of Mr. and Marion Olson. The bride's cake was decorated with pink bells and roses with silvers. The cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple triple bells and miniature doves with double rings. Mrs. Bill Olson of Heppner, sister-in-law of the groom, cut the cake. Blanche Gearhart of Pendleton, aunt of the groom, served the cake; pouring was Mrs. T. Robbin. Mother of the bride wore a dress of blue and white flowered taffeta and she had a corsage of pink ruffled rosebuds. Mother of the groom wore a royal blue taffeta dress. Her corsage was the same as the one worn by the bride's mother.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Winters, parents of the bride, and J. J. Winters, brother of the bride from Pasco, Wash.; Mrs. D. Buck of Hermiston, sister of the bride; Miss Carol Hemberry, Miss Judy Swaboda, Miss Sharon Hemberry, Terry Baglong, Dave Logan, of Pasco; Oscar George of Pendleton; Cpl.
