Over The Tee Cup

By JACKIE LABHART

With the coming of the sun, the golfers swarmed to the course, like bees to honey, only for some the taste may not have been so sweet.

Those seen on the course during the weekend were Ed Bennett, LaVerne Van Marter, Sr., Hugh Salter and son, Jack Loyd, the Bob Hales from Pendleton, the Conley Lanham, the Bill Lanham from Hermiston, Otto Abrahamson, Gordon Pratt, Clint McQuarrie, the Eddie Gundersons, "Judge" Carmichael, Tom Glass, Maurice Groves, Earl Ayers, Bert Huff, the Lowell Gribbles, Phil and Bob Mahoney, the Harlan McCurdy's Bill Blake, N. D. Bailey and Bill and I.

WEEKEND WONDERINGS: If Eddie was just trying to get a little exercise or if he actually thought he could catch up with his golf ball that he chased half way down Willow Creek . . . how in the world Harlan ever won his bet with me that he could shoot the No. 8 hole in 5 strokes with just his chipper and putter . . . if Vi Lanham doesn't always put a little "Eng-lish" on her shots to keep in

Heppner Unit Will Meet Tuesday

The room was attractively decorated in keeping with the Easter season.

practice for her classes at school . . . how Otto ever stayed on the road when one of his golf balls actually exploded in his car while driving to Pendleton . . . if Bert Huff enjoyed his first game of golf . . . if spring has sprung in more ways than one (at least some of us felt like we had sprung something on a few shots we made during the weekend) . . . never thought I would see the day when "Grib" would miff a shot . . . glad to see another newcomer join our ranks in the personage of Maurice Groves.

It seems as tho' luck is a lady after all, for she sure showered her good fortune on us for our first ladies' day competition Tuesday . . . that is to say she glowed for us with a lovely sunny day. Those gals playing were Gene Case, Velma Glass, Dee Gribble, Nadine O'Brien, Roberta Dougherty, DeLores McDowell, Donna McCurdy, Cork Norene, Kay Anderson, Bobbie Driscoll, Daisy Collins and myself. New golf balls were awarded to Kay for having the lowest number of strokes on the hidden hole, Gene won the special prize for carding the score closest to 55, and I luckily shot low gross score and was closest to the pin on the designated hole.

ATTENTION LADYLINKERS: We are starting to establish our handicaps so be sure and save your scorecards from any nine holes you play and give them to our handicap chairman Dee; she will figure your starting handicap on the first five games that are posted. And don't forget ladies day will begin Tuesday at 11:30 on the number 7 tee where we shall first get "fortified" with a sack lunch and then maybe we can "sack" the nine holes following.

The Tee Talk is still a little "weak," but should get a little stronger as this cup "brews" longer.
