Morrow Alumni Advisory Council Honored Tuesday

Twenty-nine alumni Morrow County Advisory Council members were honored on May 23 with official homemaker pins at an annual gathering at the Randall Martin home in Lena.

The pins, which bear the official extension seal of "home," "community," and "county," were a surprise to the women. They were gifts from the present county committee who acted as hostesses for the day.

"Home economics extension work was started in Morrow county in 1946," states Miss Esther Kirmlis, Morrow county agent. "Women who serve on the extension advisory council serve a three-year term. They assist the agent in planning and providing the home economics program."

Over 32 women have served on this council since 1946, explains Miss Kirmlis.

Entertainment for the day was provided by Miss Leta Humphreys, Heppner, who showed color slides and commented on the life and problems of the Holy Land. The presentation gave a clearer view of the Arab-Jewish problem.
