

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN DEAN WAY, (the former Norma Jean Robinson), following their marriage in Lexington Friday evening, September 1.

Marriage Vows Unite
Lex. Couple In Church
Ceremony Sept. 1

LEXINGTON—In the presence of family and immediate friends, Miss Norma Robinson of Goldendale, Wn., and Mr. Marvin Way of Lexington, were united in marriage Friday evening, September 1, at the Lexington Christian church. The double ceremony was read by the Rev. Walter Smith.

The bride chose a green nylon, short length dress, with an inset of embroidered pink roses, cinched across the waist to the neck where it formed a pink bow, and green ribbon hat for the wedding. She wore a white child corsage with green ribbon. Her only attendant was Mrs. Wynne Papineau, cousin of the bride, and the groom's best man was Floyd Breeding, cousin of the groom from Hermiston. The groom wore a pink and white nylon suit with a pink carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the young married couple at the Lexington, I.O.O.F. hall, given by Mrs. Frank Robinson and Mrs. June Davidson. The rooms were decorated with fall flowers, and the centerpiece was a tall arrangement of pink and red glads, in green and gold vase. The cake was a three-tiered creation and carried the traditional bride and groom top, with the rest finished in variegated pink roses, silver leaves and white wedding bells.

The cake, which was decorated by Mrs. Pat Sawyer of Pendleton, was served by Mrs. Emma White of Hardman, aunt of the groom. Pouring were Mrs. Joe Cornelson and Mrs. Bert Breeding, aunts of the groom. In charge of the gifts was Mrs. Frank Robinson, aunt of the bride.

For going away the new Mrs. Way wore a peacock blue street dress and her orchid corsage. They plan a wedding trip to southern Oregon and California, after which they will be at home at the ranch of Mr. Way near Lexington. Those present from out of town were John C. Robinson of Goldendale, father of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Breeding and sons, Floyd and Fred of Hermiston, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Way of Riley, Mrs. Dallas McDaniels and son Melvin, Mrs. Emma White of Hardman, Mrs. Iva Wareham of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Winkleman of Ione.
