Caution Given Wheat Growers On Small Acreage

Some small wheat producers who have grown less than 15 acres of wheat in the past 3 years may be subject to marketing quotas and penalties under provisions of the wheat stabilization program for 1962, according to R. E. Schedeen, chairman, Oregon State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Under previous programs, farms that had less than 15 acres of wheat, or farms that did not produce more than 200 bushels of wheat annually, were not subject to marketing quotas even though they had allotments of 15 acres or less. The 200-bushel exemption has been repealed, and the 15-acre exemption is no longer applicable under the new program.

For 1962, the marketing quota exemption for those who planted 15 acres of wheat during any one of the 3 years 1959, 1960, or 1961, and whose allotment is less than 13.5 acres, will be reduced to 13.5 acres. Exemption for growers who planted less than 13.5 acres of wheat will be the highest planted acreage in any one of these 3 years if the 1962 allotment is less than such highest acreage.

In addition to these quota requirements, some small producers may also be subject to marketing quota penalties under certain conditions, Schedeen pointed out. For example, farmers who have not grown wheat in any one of the past 3 years and who grow wheat for harvest without an allotment in 1962 will be subject to marketing quota penalties on the entire production.

Another group of producers who will also be subject to wheat marketing quota penalties are those who have grown 13.5 acres or more in one of the 3 years, 1959, 1960, or 1961 and whose 1962 allotments are 13.5 acres or less and who grow for harvest more than 13.5 acres in 1962.

Penalties may also apply to small producers who exceed their 1962 allotment when that allotment is greater than the acreage planted for harvest in any one of the years, 1959, 1960, or 1961.

On farms where there is excess wheat acreage, the amount of wheat subject to a marketing quota penalty would be twice the normal yield of the excess acres multiplied by 65 percent for wheat. Downward adjustment in this determination may be made if the producer furnishes evidence of his actual production. In those cases where a producer exceeds the exemption, the penalty is figured from the allotment rather than the exemption.

Approximately two-thirds of the wheat producers in the

Entries Urged Now For Wool Garment Contest

The 15th annual "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest, sponsored and promoted by the Oregon Wool Grower's auxiliary, has set Saturday, October 28, as the date for the district contest to be held at the Vert auditorium in Pendleton.

Entries will be received in three divisions: sub-deb, ages 13-15; junior, ages 15-16; and senior, ages 17-21. Any person in these age groups may enter by filling out an entry blank anytime up until the time of the style show, the only requirements being that the garment is made of 100% American loomed wool and made by the person himself. District winners will receive prizes and will compete in the state finals. The state contest will be held November 18 at Meier and Frank Co., downtown Portland.

Entrants must have clothes at the auditorium in Pendleton by 10:00 a. m., Oct. 28, and judging will be held at 2:00 p. m. Contestants will model their garments at a style show and tea, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Entertainment will also be provided.

Mrs. Robert Hoskin of Ione is co-director for the district and encourages girls and young women from this area to enter, especially those who have had wool garment projects in 4-H clubs.

United States grow less than 15 acres of wheat, yet these small producers raise about one-sixth of all the wheat grown in this country, Schedeen explained. By reducing the wheat marketing quota exemption, these growers now have an opportunity to make a greater contribution to the national effort to bring wheat supplies more nearly in line with demand.
