Rhea Creek Unit Studies Family Life At Monthly Meeting

The November meeting of the Rhea Creek Home Extension Unit was held in the Grange hall on Wednesday, November 1, at 10:30 A. M.

The topic for this month was "Understanding Teen-agers," with Jane Rawlins and Vern Batty leading out in the discussion. Some helpful hints were given the group, these taken from the instruction given by Roberta C. Frasier, family life specialist. These include: 1. accept individual differences, 2. recognize the influence of the past, 3. learn to listen, 4. use praise to reinforce behavior, 5. show a better way to act, 6. accept feelings, but limit actions, 7. set reasonable limits, 8. enforce limits, 9. give freedom to grow, and 10. look to the future.

Thirteen members attended the all day meeting which included a potluck lunch and business meeting. Eva Wright acted as hostess.

The card party and bazaar have been postponed until February or March when more people will be able to attend.

December 6 will be the date

Martin in OSU Band

of the next meeting when the project will be "Magic with Mixes" with Beverly Wright and Mary Campbell as leaders. All who are interested are urged to come. The younger women could gain so much by attending, as these meetings are prepared with their needs in mind. If baby sitting is a problem, bring little children along. There is space for them to play while the mothers learn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Brown took their daughter, Mrs. John Mellin, and her two children to Portland Saturday. Mrs. Mellin and children flew by jet to National City, Calif., where they will join Mr. Mellin who is stationed there with the U. S. Navy.

This is A Record of Success

A group of farmers working together can make more for themselves in terms of money and bargaining power than they can alone and in competition with each other. Over $600,000 of the above amount has been returned to patrons in the form of cash in recent years. The remainder has been used to create a financially strong marketing and bargaining unit.

We are in a sound financial position to meet the changing conditions of poor crops and low storage income.
