Funeral Rites Held In Ione For Geo. N. Ely

George Nash Ely, who had made his home at the Odd Fellows Home in Portland since 1958, died January 13. He was born January 24, 1881, at Marshalltown, Iowa, the son of David C. Ely and Mary Nash, and came to Ione at the age of five in 1886.

On June 22, 1912, he was married to Josephine Adams, who passed away in August, 1916. To this union was born a son, Francis Eugene Ely, on July 13, 1914, a daughter, Josephine M. Ely, in August 1916, and who passed away at the age of six months in 1917.

Most of his entire life was spent in Ione, except for a few years after 1918, when he resided in Eastern Washington. He returned to Ione in 1928 and operated Jordan and Ione elevators until his retirement in 1946. He moved to Salem in 1956 and then to the Odd Fellows Home in Portland in 1958, where he passed away on January 13.

Ely was a fifty year member of the Ione Masonic Lodge No. 120 and Charter member of Ione Eastern Star, Locust Chapter, and fifty year member of Morgan Odd Fellows Lodge and a member of Bunchgrass Rebekah Lodge and Royal Arch Masons of Heppner. He had been City Recorder for the town of Ione for a number of years before leaving for the valley.

He is survived by his son, Francis E. Ely and wife, Florence and a grandson Duane A. Ely of Salem. A sister, Mrs. Mamie Bauthues of Custer, Wn., two brothers, Fred and Charles Ely of Portland and a number of nieces and nephews.

Services were held from the Ione Community church, with services conducted by the Minister, assisted by Rev. Rod McKenzie. Burial was in the Morgan cemetery.

Soward Returns From Extended Southern Trip

Earl L. Soward, retired Christian church minister, returned to his home in Heppner Thurs., Jan. 4 after a 10-month stay in the southern states. He made the trip by plane from Memphis, Tenn., by way of Dallas, Texas, where he had a chance to see his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Soward of Austin, Texas, before continuing his homeward trip.

During October, November and December, Mr. Soward served as a supply minister at First Christian church at Jonesboro, Ark., a city of over 21,000 people and the home of one of the south's leading colleges. He expressed his service there as being "a most interesting and challenging experience, with professors, students and outstanding leaders in my audience."

Most of his summer was spent at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Vernon Greenhalgh in Memphis, convalescing from major surgery in Kennedy Veteran's hospital there last summer. It was during that time that Mrs. Soward made the trip east to be with him.

Asked how it seemed to be back to Heppner again, he remarked, "It is very quiet here. I would like very much to do some writing and enjoy my retirement."

DALE MARTIN

Junior Leaders Will Hear IFYE At Training Meet

Oregon's IFYE to Greece, Dale Martin, will be heard Saturday by 4-H members and leaders attending the Junior Leader Training Day. The training session will start at 10 a. m. at the Heppner Fair annex building, according to Joe Hay, county extension agent.

Dale, who makes his home in Grant county, spent six months in Greece living with farm families and learning about their customs on the International Farm Youth Exchange program. He will be telling of his travels, talking about the way people live and showing some slides of Greece.

Leadership training which will be presented during the day will include the philosophy of leadership, what is a 4-H junior leader, tools of a junior leader, working with boys and girls, and developing a program of work. Junior leaders will need to confer with their adult leader in developing their program of work.

The training will run into the afternoon and those who attend should bring a sack lunch. The program will end about 3 p. m.

Rhea Creek Grange Schedules Speaker

Dale Martin, a returned IFYE exchangee from Greece, will be guest speaker for the Rhea Creek Grange program at a public meeting Saturday evening at the grange hall.

Martin will speak and show pictures of experiences he has had during his recent six weeks stay in Greece. This is the only scheduled talk by him in this area, except an appearance before the 4-H junior leaders this week-end. He is a guest this week in the Harold Wright home.

A potluck dinner is planned for 6:30, and the program will follow. A special invitation is extended 4-H members and their parents and any others interested in attending.

Wright is Chosen As Livestock Man Of Year at Meet

exceptionally dry year. These calves weighed over 700 pounds on March 1 when they are sold to feedlot operators for finishing.

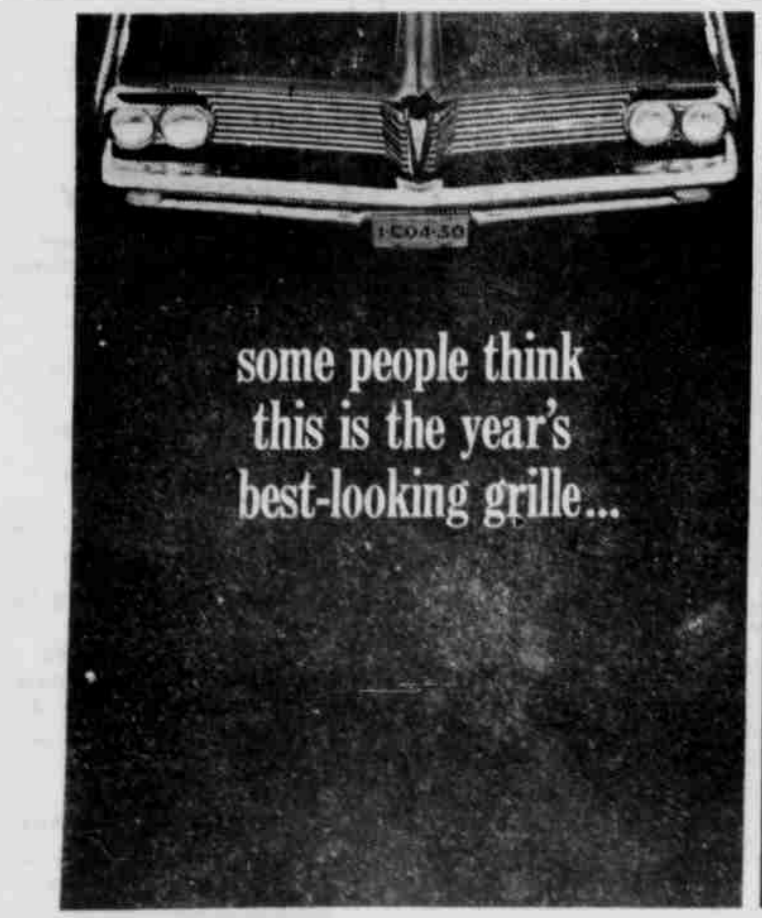

In addition to 16 head of registered Suffolk ewes owned by son Kenneth, Wright has a small herd of 40 Targhee ewes. These ewes lambed out after January 1 last year, weaned off lambs averaging 97 pounds on May 15 which included singles and twins alike with no "cut-backs."

Wright is an advocate of ensilage and he hauls hundreds of tons of peavine ensilage each year for his entire herd. Twenty pounds of peavine ensilage are fed to the cows each day and this along with excellent quality alfalfa hay has contributed to the high weaning weight of calves which is reflected in the milking ability of the cow.

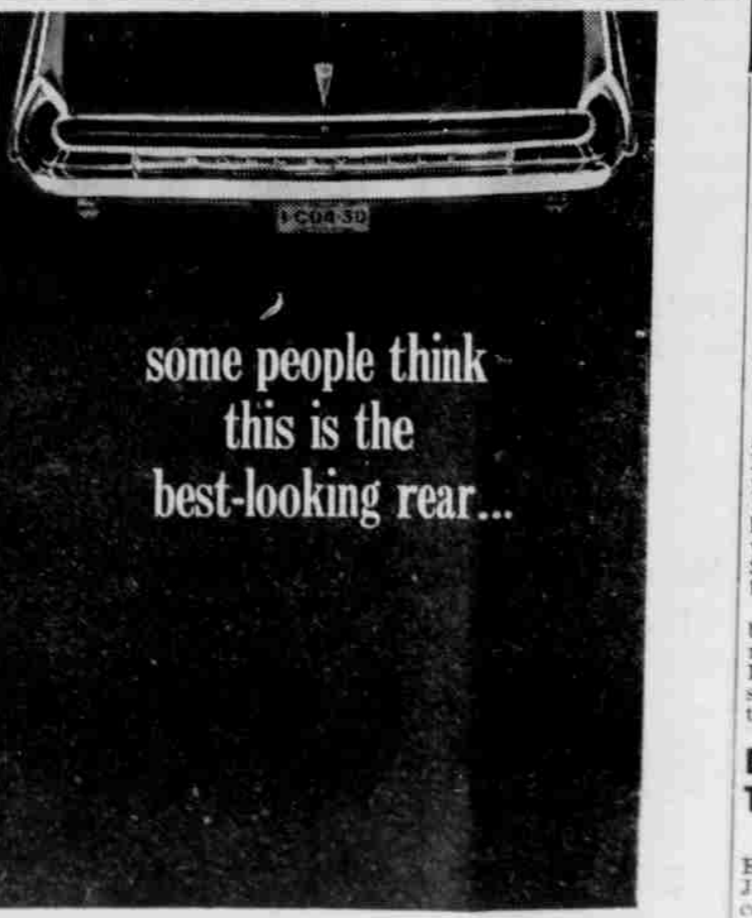

Active in Community
Active in many county and community activities, Wright has been secretary of the Rhea Creek Grange for six or more years. He is a member of the American Hereford Association, the Oregon Wheat Growers League, Morrow County Farm Bureau and is an associate director of the Morrow County Grain Growers. He has been very much interested in youth programs and has provided steer calves for 4-H and FFA feeding projects and many club members have obtained lambs for feeding projects from him. He served as leader of the Rhea Creek 4-H Livestock club. A year ago he provided the Hereford steer calf from his registered herd that Gary Van Blokland showed to Grand Championship at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition. He sold this steer calf at weaning time to Gary for $100. He has a large fishing pond where trout and bass have been planted and many people fish from this pond.

The operator experiment with new practices to determine their worth and is well informed on all livestock production and feeding operations. The operation is one of the more efficiently operated in the entire county.
