

Committee Meets to Plan 1962 Heart Fund Drive

By DELPHA JONES

LEXINGTON—Organization of the Morrow County 1962 Heart Fund campaign committee got underway Monday at the home of county chairman, Mrs. Cecil Thorne, lone, W. Bradley, field representative from Portland, was present to speak and give out material for the campaign. Others attending were Mrs. C. C. Jones, Lexington, co-chairman, Mrs. Earl Soward and Mrs. Frank Hamlin, Heppner; Mrs. Bob DeSpain, lone, and Mrs. Anna Schaeffer, Cecil. Others present were Mrs. Bertha Hunt, Mrs. Alonzo Henderson and Mrs. O. G. Breeding.

Volunteer workers will contact families in Morrow county for donations to the Heart Fund through the month of February, with official Heart Sunday set for February 25. Contributions may be made to the Heart Fund boxes in public businesses, to ladies who call at the door, or in the mailing envelopes.

Primary purpose of the fund is to help in the preventing and controlling of heart disease through research, through education and through community service. Statistics show that every 45 minutes someone dies in the state of Oregon of a heart attack or through some illness related to the heart, and in Morrow county, 26 out of every 44 deaths last year were a result of a heart condition. We are directly helped in our county through the research, which helps our doctors help us, and through the educational program, that we may learn to help ourselves.

Garden Club Selects Trees For Planting

The tree committee of Ione Garden club has made selections of trees to be planted on main street where owners of adjacent property indicate their willingness to take care of them. Some were also selected to plant in the park. It was not thought advisable to plant on some streets until the new water mains are installed.

Old hose or old pipes are wanted by the committees for staking trees, and anyone having them to donate is asked to leave them by Rietmann's store, or to notify Garland Swanson.

City ordinances impose a fine for injury, destruction or mutilation by any person, of shade or ornamental trees, not his own, within the city limits; and another prohibits allowing trash or debris on private property, or weeds more than ten inches high.

In many cases, the variety of species of trees chosen is dictated by conditions, especially overhead wiring. Best varieties chosen for the project are flowering crab, honey locust, flowering plum, blue ash, birch, moraine locust, red oak, Carolina poplar, Schwedler's maple, green ash and Washington thorn.

Ione PTA Schedules Science, Math Speech

IONE—All people interested in good education, including students, will want to mark their calendar for Wednesday evening, February 14, meeting night of the Ione PTA.

The program for the evening will feature Joe Hausler, considered by most Ionians to be the most able and dedicated teacher in the profession, speaking upon the new concept of math and science that is now being taught in the nation's schools that are fortunate enough to have the specially trained personnel needed to carry on such a program.

Mr. Hausler has recently had special training in this field. He was awarded scholarships by the National Science Foundation to both Stanford University and the University of Utah. It was at the latter that he was awarded the degree of "Master of Science."

While reading Mr. Hausler's thesis, the thought came to the PTA program chairman that here was that rare something that should be shared with everyone in the area who has the education of children at heart—all children, not just those considered academically talented.

A sincere and special invitation is extended to all Morrow county school board members, and all county local school committee members to attend this meeting from Ray Heimbigner, program chairman.

Also on the program will be a very short recognition of "Founder's Day." Hospitality chairman, Mrs. Norman Nelson, will present this portion of the program.
