WELL, HERE it is Tuesday night, and I promised myself I just wouldn't still be writing at this time, but this week there was really a flood of stories to cover! So here goes to keep you all up on the social activities about town.

JOYCE WARD took the high honors at the King's Little Queen's bridge club Thursday night with Betty Hamilton as hostess. Eileen Wyman won second and Helen O'Donnell was low. Making up two tables of play were Nadine O'Brien, Dee Gribble, Faye Pierce, Jean Williamson, and Shirley Blake. Oh, almost forgot, Dee won the traveling prize.

SUNDAY DINNER guests of the Rod Murrays were Eldon Harvey and Bill Severe, Pendleton. Both judged the Wrangler princess contest Sunday. Other guests were Archie and Dimple Munkers, Al and Edna Fetsch, Bill and Thelma Smethurst, Roice and Betty Fullerton, Everett and Bernice Struckmeier.

EDDA MAE Lovgren won the door prize when Joyce Ward entertained Tuesday evening with two tables of bridge. Gwen Green won low; Eileen Prock, second; and Bebe Munkers, high. Others playing were Betty Gimbel, Jean Bennett, Nadine O'Brien, Betty Hamilton, and Gwen Huff. What I'm wondering is where everyone played? Anyhow, Joyce tells me everyone had very good hands with many slams and Bebe had over 6,000 score!

SATURDAY WAS St. Patrick's day, and the wearin' of the green and such brought into mind for the Wolff family a party for "wee lassies." Fifteen little girls enjoyed a game-filled fun afternoon at the Wolff home with Shelley and Kelley as hosts. The treasure hunt brought delight as they found a wish bag full of gifts. Youngsters winning prizes were Ava Lynn Green, Bobette Jones, Libby Abrams, Marie Van Marter, and Shelley. Green and white decorations carried out the St. Patrick's theme.

Wednesday evening, Harriet Hall was high for the night, Kay Anderson was second and Cork Norene won low. Also making up the play were Sue Jones, Laurel Van Marter, Helen Cohn, Beverly Gunderson, and Louise.

CARRIE BECKETT continued to show the girls how to play pinochle as she took high again Friday afternoon with Doris Watkins hostess for the club. Hazel Hamlin was low, Gladys Beckett and Janina Johnson won the pinochle. Say, who won second? Maybe it was Millie Evans, Pearl Wright, Marguerite Chapin, or Doris. I'll let you know next week.

THE FYOUDA's and Fyidas played an evening of bridge at the home of Rachel Dick Wednesday night with Elsie Cole winning high. Gladys Connor won second and Florence Green was low. Other members playing were Beth Bryant, Winnifred Cox, Lorena Jones, Alma Green, and Phyllis Hutchins.

HEPPNER ELKS entertained over 450 persons at the crab feed and dance Saturday night. Condon Elks and wives were guests as the payoff feed in the annual hide collecting contest which Condon won this year. I never saw so many people enjoy such a hard-to-get-at delicacy!

DORIS WATKINS hosted the Hobby club at her home last week. Club members present were Eva Miller, Millie Evans, Faye Munkers, Dimple Munkers, and Ola Ruggles. Some continued with copperwork and others spent the afternoon knitting.

ALVINA PADBERG entertained the Thursday evening Pinochle club with a dinner at 6:30 followed by two tables in play. This newly organized club will discontinue until fall and has planned a dinner outing for next week. Loree Hubbard won high, Janina Johnson, second; and Prudy Casebeer held the high hand of the evening. Also playing were Alta Cutsforth, Eunice Pettyjohn, Leann Rea, Jeanne Dobbs, and Alvina.

THE WEDNESDAY afternoon Sewing club brought shower gifts for Dick and Susy Ruhl at their meeting with Betty Pfeiffer as hostess. They brought the gifts unwrapped and gift-wrapped them at the gathering. Marie McQuarrie delivered the gifts to the young couple over spring vacation in Corvallis. She accompanied Happy Graham who picked up her daughter, Helen, from OSU. Other afternoon guests were Cork Norene, Mary Ellen Myers, Betty Spaulding, Ruth Bedford, Dee Gribble, Happy and Marie.

EIGHT MEMBERS of the Bookworms enjoyed the book review by Ruby Becket of the book,

Three Are Honored At Rainbow Reception Here Monday Night

Three local members of Ruth Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, were honored Monday at a reception in the Masonic lodge rooms following the regular meeting.

Beverly Blake, worthy advisor, introduced Mrs. Harold Becket, Grand deputy of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls; Bernice Thomson, member of the state executive committee; and Ginger Springer, grand choir member. They were presented in the east and others introduced in the east were Mrs. Paul Webb, mother advisor; Mrs. Louis Halvorsen, lone assembly mother advisor; Shannon Mahoney and Bernice Thomson, past worthy advisors; Mrs. Paul Jones and Mrs. Claude Graham, past mother advisors.

Also introduced were Harold Becket, worthy patron, Ruth chapter, OES; other past worthy patrons and patrons of Ruth chapter and members of lone assembly, and Rainbow for Girls. The Rainbow girls presented an addendum for the honored guests and each was given a nosegay of pink roses and carnations.

An entertaining program was presented with the high school girls' trio, Ginny Moore, Ginny Lou Turner, and Pam Cochell, singing one number, followed by the high school boys' trumpet trio, John Cleveland, Lyle Hopper, and Dick Struckmeier, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Gimbel, playing "Bugler's Holiday." Brenda Young and Diane Schaffitz closed out the program with a humorous skit.

Mrs. LaVerne Van Marter, Mrs. Bill Blake, and Mrs. Don Turner were in charge of the social hour which followed in the dining room. Decorations carried out the pink and white theme and a centerpiece of Easter lilies and rosebuds with pink candles was used on the tea table. Pouring were Mrs. Arnold Springer and Mrs. Jim Thomson.

"Gold and Cattle Country," by Herman Oliver. This story, written with the help of E. R. Jackman, is of the early day of Grant county and the Oliver family. Ella Smith entertained the members, Lorena Jones, Madge Thomson, Agnes Flug, Elsie Cole, Lucy Peterson, and Pauline Hughes.

RONNIE FLUG, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flug, celebrated his birthday Wednesday afternoon with a party. Joining in with the games and refreshments were LaVerne Van Marter, Billy Wolff, Philip Ayres, Larry Bellenbrock, and Mark Lovgren.

FRAN McLEOD and Barbara Blake were hostesses for a fun-filled dancing party at the Dave McLeod home Thursday night. The high school students participated in many mixer dances and had a good chance to practice the dance steps they have been learning. Of course they consumed "tons" of refreshments during the evening!

SUNDAY AFTERNOON the Jim Lovgrens entertained with a dinner party honoring members of the family on the occasion of their birthdays. Celebrating birthdays were Al and Roxie Lovgren and Frank Lovgren, son of the Jim Lovgrens. Guests were Cal and Jerry Sumner and daughter, Laura Lee, and Jim Sherman.

THE SCEPTIMIST club members entertained several hundred junior high school students from lone and Heppner at a dancing party at the Elks ballroom Friday night. To round out the evening they served refreshments to the students at this annual affair.

Heppner Unit Hears Of Wardrobe Tips
Mrs. Riley Munkers reported from the program planning meeting on the projects to be offered the units during the 1962-63 year at Heppner extension unit meeting Tuesday. They also discussed the Homemakers' Festival rescheduled for May 15 in Heppner.

Following a delicious potluck noon luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ray Drake, Esther Kirmis, county agent, presented the March project, "Wardrobe Building," to the 15 members present. She outlined ideas for selecting the wardrobe as to individual size, height, and coloring. Also considered were where the dress or outfit is to be worn and whether it may be dressed up or down by adding or subtracting accessories play an important part in the wardrobe.

Mrs. Frank Connor won the Dutch auction and Mrs. Gene Ferguson won the door prize. The unit will meet April 10 at the home of Mrs. Bud Peck with Esther giving the project lesson on "Bedroom and Bath Storage." Anyone interested is invited to attend the 11:00 a. m. meeting and bring a sack lunch for noon.

Katie Minert Honored By Friends on Birthday

Friends and neighbors of Miss Katie Minert called at her home last Wednesday, March 14, to shower her with birthday wishes. The occasion marked her 79th birthday. Mrs. Roy Neill sent a birthday cake, although she was unable to be present. Other friends brought cake, pie and fruits.

Those extending their special wishes to Miss Minert were Mrs. Pearl Devine, Mrs. R. B. Rice, Mrs. Wm. M. Mahan, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Fred Butterfield, Miss Ona Gilliam, Miss Opal Briggs, Mrs. Della Corson, Mrs. Esther Barnett and Mrs. Anne Smouse.

Co-op Auxiliary Invites Others

Instruction will be offered for those interested in the technique of checked gingham smocking of pillows and aprons at the next Lexington Co-op auxiliary meeting April 2. The meeting is set for 1:30 p. m. at the Lexington City hall and anyone interested is invited to attend.

Materials needed are: aprons, one yard; square pillows, 14 1/2 yard; and round pillows, two yards. Those making pillows are urged to use the one inch square checked material. For more information one may call Mrs. Gene Ferguson, Mrs. Ray Drake, or Mrs. Lonnie McCabe.

Take Field Trip

The Golden Rock Geology club went on a field trip March 14 to The Dalles. We took tours through The Dalles Dam and through their Museum. Our leader, Mrs. Rachael Harnett, and the Frank Paynes took their cars. We took sack lunches and ate along the Columbia River shore at The Dalles. We collected rocks on the way and stopped at some agate shops to get rocks. We left Heppner at 8 a. m. and returned home about 7 p. m. Frankie Lovgren, reporter

Rock Club Meeting Due Saturday Night
