By CHARLOTTE WALKER
Hardman, Rhea Creek—Walter Berney and his sister from Walla Walla, Wash., attended the potluck dinner at the Hardman community hall Sunday. In the afternoon Mr. Berney showed pictures on his travels last fall through Russia and other "iron curtain" countries. His picture taking was quite limited, as he was accompanied by a guide wherever he went, but he talked of things he had seen, about their various ways of living, and answered questions asked by the audience. It was very interesting.

Park Project Aided By Gift

IONE—The Ione Garden club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Bergstrom Tuesday afternoon, March 13, with Mrs. Vida Heliker as co-hostess.

A check for $25 was received from Mrs. D. J. Conway of San Francisco, Calif., for trees to be placed in the city park in the name of her mother, Mrs. Helen Woolery. Other daughters taking part in the donation are Mrs. Audrey Dye and Mrs. Velmilitta Dorr. The father, J. A. Woolery, donated the property to the city for the park and planted the trees about 1905. Mrs. Woolery gave the deed for the property to the city after his death in 1907. About 25 trees were taken out this winter and eight new ones planted.

"Trees On Your Street," a publication by the Portland General Electric Company, will be placed in the library for the use of the public. This contains information of interest about street tree planting.

The club will serve the supper at the April 7 benefit dance for Danny Akers. It will include sandwiches, cake, punch and coffee.

Bird chairman, Mrs. Elaine Rietmann, told about the one surviving flock of Whooping Crane which winters in Texas. Each year between 4 and 7 young are added to the flock which is nearly extinct. They live to be 35 or 40 years old.

The club representatives, Mrs. Ralph Crum and Mrs. Rietmann, recently attended a rural civil defense meeting. They reported interesting information on fallout shelters and the implications of a nuclear war.

Roll call was answered by 16 members by giving the botanical name of a flower in the garden. Three guests were Mrs. Paul Pettyjohn, Jr., Mrs. Art Stefani Jr., and Mrs. Tuda Swanson. Mrs. Edith Nicholson received the door prize.

Everyone present received a plant of some kind in the plant exchange, with youngsters Teena Stefani, Kathy Crum and Christine Straum assisting.

Next meeting will be Tuesday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. Fannie Griffith with Mrs. Ronald Bishop assisting. It is planned that Bill Rawlins will speak on dahlia culture. Special feature will be arrangements for competition made by the members.

No Grazing Fee Increase in '62

County Judge Lloyd Rea of Baker attended the three-day session of the Bureau of Land Management advisory board in Albuquerque, N. M., as an observer, at the invitation of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. He brought back assurances there will be no grazing fee increases on federal lands during 1962 but also learned the administration is pressing for fee boosts soon afterward.

Assurance of no hikes in fees during 1962 came from Assistant Secretary of Interior John A. Carver, Jr.

He emphasized, however, that it is "not in the interest of the livestock industry and not consistent with the responsibility of the Interior Department to further postpone action to increase the fees."

Carver pointed out other federal and state agencies and private owners collect fees considerably higher than the 19-cent per AUM fee charged by the BLM.

"The weight of the evidence indicates that fees ought to be raised," he said, and requested that the National Advisory Council come up with a plan for "scheduled moderate upward adjustments designed to reach some mutually agreed upon standard, taking into account variations for quality and other factors."

A plan the assistant secretary suggested would have the Interior Department fix a minimum and a maximum fee, allowing the local district grazing advisory boards to recommend adjustments of fees within this range based upon individual circumstances.

One feature of his plan would permit the local district to retain amounts collected above the minimum and use them for range improvement work within the district.

draw up the budget for Morrow County. The District Attorney was instructed to draw up the necessary papers to establish a road tax base of $115,000.00, to be voted on at the primary election. The order cancelling the personal property taxes of John Kalal was rescinded.
