Marriage Rites Unite Couple In Illinois In Church Wedding

LEXINGTON—In a beautiful candlelight ceremony at the Trinity Methodist church of West Frankfort, Ill., on Saturday, March 10, Miss Donna Gail Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Avery, became the bride of Larry Dean Fetsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Fetsch of Lexington. The Rev. Harold Cody and the Rev. Robert Edwards performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore an imported white chantilly lace and silk sheen over taffeta. The lace bodice with sebrina neckline of iridescent and pearls was fashioned with long sleeves and tapered wrists. The voluminous silk skirt of chantilly lace terminated into a graceful, tiered train. Her finger ring illusion veil was secured to a lace tiara, sparkling in pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bridal bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

The church altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and urns of potted greenery and candelabra with tall white tapers.

A medley of wedding music was presented by William Palmer and accompanied Miss Judy Martin as she sang "Because," "Always" and the "Lord's Prayer."

Miss Jacqueline Davis was maid of honor and Miss Kay Hanover was bridesmaid. Both wore identical dresses of true blue satin, with matching head pieces and accessories.

Dave Scott of Bonne Terre, Mo., was best man and Gary Young of West Frankfort, Mo., was groomsmen.

The flower girl was Melinda Lyell, cousin of the bride, wearing white organdy with blue trim. Ushers were Larry Barton, and Robert Fetsch, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother chose mint green embroidered linen sheath dress, with black accessories and carnation corsage. The groom's mother wore a blue silk sheath dress with blue accessories and white carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Al Fetsch and children Robert and Martene of Lexington, and Mr. and Mrs. David Tottleman of Collinsville, Ill.

The bride was a 1961 graduate of West Frankfort, Ill. Before their marriage she was employed in St. Louis, Mo. as a legal secretary. The groom was a graduate of Heppner High school, and has just completed a 3 year term of duty with the U.S. army. At present the couple will be at home at the Al Fetsch ranch near Lexington.

TO THE EDITOR...

To the Editor:
Two Ugly Stubs!

This is the most outstanding feature in our city park since city crews completed the butchery of two of the large trees there. And why? They had been butchered before!

About this time every year citizens seem to feel it is a mistake to let a tree grow in the manner nature decrees with tall, spreading limbs reaching for the sunlight and the sky. So with axe and handsaw, powersaw and cables they set about the annual rite of "topping their trees." "Killing their trees" would better describe the activity, for this is precisely what they are doing; killing them, slowly. A tree can no more live out a normal lifespan after being "topped" even once, than a person can live a normal life with an amputation every now and then. A tree develops in balance—root system, trunk and spreading limbs—each in its proper degree to support the rest. It is as serious to upset the balance by severing the top as by severing the root system, or stripping the bark from the trunk.

To be sure, the tree tries to survive: It sends out an enormous growth after being "topped" in its struggle to live—growth that will provide as much area as possible for leaf development (the tree's manufacturing plant). But the odds are all against its success. The new growth cannot provide the uncongested area for leaf development and exposure to sunlight and air that wide-spreading, well-developed limbs provide. The blunt end of a sawed-off limb several inches in diameter is open invitation to decay, even after our feeble efforts to assuage our minds about butchery by painting over the cut. No wound on a tree can long remain free from decay if it is larger than the tree can cover with new bark; it's one healing process, within a year or two. Unless, of course, it receives constant and careful attention until the tree's new bark growth has had time to cover the wound.

A severe "topping" such as the park trees have received will have reduced their life span by decades, and their beauty is destroyed forever. A home-owner should think carefully before severing even a large limb or two; the value of a tree, and its beauty, should be weighed against any possible danger to his house from a limb downed by a high wind. "Topping" should become as frowned upon as burning stubble in a wheat field. Careful pruning and shaping a growing tree is good and necessary, but butchery is a tragic mistake.

Let's stop killing our trees! Goodness knows they are none too plentiful now. Let's let them grow, tall, majestic, beautiful! Let's let them lift our eyes—and our spirits! Let's let them grow, and grow with them.
Sincerely,
Austin McGhee
