

Guests Enchanted
With Bali Hai Theme
At High School Prom

"Bali Hai," the isle of enchantment, was the background for an evening of dancing and refreshments at the Heppner High Junior-Senior prom Friday evening, May 4.

A volcano, appearing to be erupting, furnished seats for Queen Rose Nash and King Kenneth Daggett. The royal couple had been chosen by the junior class to rule over the events of the evening, and were presented with orchid leis, to wear during the festivities.

Water lilies grew in an island pond at the foot of a waterfall near the entrance to the room, and a bridge over the pond served as the entrance. A pale moon cast light over the orchestra and dancers, with palm trees silhouetting a grey sky behind the orchestra and refreshment stand.

Music for the evening was furnished by the "Intruders" from Yakima, Wn.

Refreshments were served from a little grass hut by four eighth graders, David Matheny, Carla Luciana, Leslie Meador and Paul Hsler who were dressed in native costumes.
