THIS WEEK, I have many "end of school" parties for the students and with no theater to fill the kids' needs, probably more parties will be held during the summer. A good idea for entertaining: You really need not have much of an excuse to have a party for young and old alike! With warm weather coming along, how about an outdoor barbecue feed?

JEAN SIEWERT hosted a send-off party for Bill Sherman Friday night at the Siewert home. Helping with the refreshments were Barbara Blake, Pat Van Winkle, Karen McCurdy, and Anna Marie Brindle. The guests enjoyed dancing, playing cards, eating the usual hearty snacks, and just visiting. Monday I overheard several of the girls discussing the party and they were really "gone" on the card playing! Guests included Fran McLeod, Ginny Lou Turner, Ginny Moore, Brenda Young, Pam Cochell, Jennifer Brindle, Linda Thornburg, Phyllis Nelson, Janet Struckmeier, LeRoy Gardner, Bill Sherman, John Cleveland, Don Creswick, Bill Cox, David Proudfoot, Keny Wright, Dick Springer, Shag Applegate, Doug Duboué, David George, Kenny Smith and Dick Struckmeier, Pat, Barbara, Karen, Anna Marie, and Jean.

A COUPLE of freshmen boys got together and dreamed up a pizza party if someone would furnish the house and just a little of the work and here's how it worked out! Dean Lovgren and Kip Morris were the instigators and Kip's sister and brother-in-law, Vern and Florence Nolan, were the "house work." The party was held Saturday night at the Nolan home from 6 until 10 p. m. During the evening Gary Struthers was surprised on his 18th birthday with a birthday cake from his parents. The group enjoyed dancing and barbecuing hamburgers during the party. Guests were Don Munkers, Bruce Spencer, Dean Robinson, Sherril McDonald, Barbara Bloodsworth, Barbara Blake, Tanna Valentine, Karen McCurdy, Patricia Van Winkle, Sheridan Wyman, Rogenia Wilson, Eric Anderson, Gary Dean, and Kip.

MARIAN JONASSON and Jan Aegle held a 4-table card party at the Jonasson home May 21. The dessert card party entertained two tables of bridge and two of pinochle. Carla Calhoun won high in pinochle and LaFyrne Pratt won high in bridge. The door prize went to Gail Johnson. Also playing were Jackie Glenie, Myrna Sutherland, Carolyn Cole, Janina Johnson, JoAnn Hughes, Velma Cantonwine, Vi Lanham, Gwen Huff, Beverly Gunderson, Mary McClure, Sue Jones, Marian and Jan.

HAVE YOU noticed the landscaping around the Hope Lutheran church? Rock terraces are being built and plantings being made with the help of many members. Nice addition!

LILLIAN SWECK won high in pinochle and teamed up with me to win the traveling pinochle, so guess she can play pinochle as well as bridge! Although one time during the night we were not sure when she bid "I diamond!" Marj Gardner won the low prize. Others playing were Ruth Van Winkle, Maxine Gray, Sarah Sharrard, Bebe Munkers, and Lenna Smith who hosted the party at her home. I overheard some say they would like to write my column this week and mention that I was late to the party! Lenna had to call me at 8:30 to see if I was coming. I jumped into some shoes and took off! A sign of old age, forgetting?

DAVID ROGERS, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, celebrated his seventh birthday with a circus party. "The Little Show on Earth." Working with him in the "big top" were Robbie Both, Doug Gonty, Jimmy Myers, Tod Cox, Avery Taylor, Allan McCabe, Joni and Mike Booth, David's brothers, Thom and Rod, and sister, Bridie. They enjoyed a carousel cake, pink lemonade, and Crackerjacks which they didn't mind sharing with the wild animals adorning the table as nutcrackers. Circus games were played before opening the gifts. Assisting Mrs. Rogers with the "show" was Mrs. Robert Booth.

ROBIN SUE NYMAN, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nyman, entertained guests at her birthday party Sunday afternoon at the ranch home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Evans. Her classmates and friends enjoying the party fun were Susan Proudfoot, Pamela Johnston, Dee Pettyjohn, Janet McCurdy, Susan French, Jana Lee Scott, Karla Weatherford, Becky Fullerton, Barbara Sherman, Alene Boyljian, Debby Majeski, Denise Bloodsworth, Mary Ann O'Donnell, Gwen Drake, and Sara Witherrite. Hostesses were Paula Siewert, Ruby Fullerton, and Robin's sister, Judy.

CORK NORENE entertained the Renegades bridge club Wednesday night and winners were Karen Thompson, high; Laurel Van Marter, second; Nona Sowell, low; and Hazel Hamlin won the Jack high prize. Making up the play and not getting a prize were Kathryn Webb, Louise Farley, Gene Case, and Cork.

COMMUNITY SERVICE is something most organizations learn and try to practice during each year. I learned of such a service done by the Knitzy Knitters 4-H club in Lexington. They met after school Monday night to clean the rocks and broken bottles off of the Lexington IOOF cemetery. These girls included Nancy Campbell, Jeannine Hunt, Jeanette Ledbetter, Diana Cutsforth, Chris Munkers, Mary Kay Hughes, Norita Marquardt, and Linda Orwick. They are led by Lucia Cutsforth and Lois Hunt. Congratulations to the group.

HEPPNER ELKS hosted the Master Point night at the Episcopal parish hall Tuesday night with Hermiston players taking home the top prizes. Winning high north-south were Gus Hartzheim and Steve Truckositz, Hermiston; second, Ralph Richards, Jr., and Mary Jo Hartzheim, Hermiston; third, Jim and Bobbe Driscoll; fourth, Rita Wolff and Gwen Huff. High east-west were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richards, Sr., Hermiston; second, Harlan McCurdy, Jr., and Della McCurdy; third, Bert Huff and Dick Meador; and fourth, Bill Blake and Elaine George.

MONDAY NIGHT LaVerne and Laurel Van Marter entered the Hermiston Elks bridge play and came home with a first and second place. Laurel and Frank Barkender, Hermiston, won first; LaVerne and Gus Hartzheim, Hermiston, teamed up to win second.

LETA HUMPHREYS and Lucy Peterson were hostesses Tuesday night at the Humphreys home for the Bookworms club. Leta showed slides of her trip to Italy, showing pictures of Venice, Genoa, Naples, and Florence. Attending this last meeting of the group until fall were Madge Thomson, Virginia Turner, and Ella Smith.

CARRIE BECKETT won high at the Friday Afternoon Pinochle club with Gladys Beckett hosting the group. Doris Watkins won low and others playing were Millie Evans, Mary Harris, Pearl Wright, Beulah Mankin, Marguerite Chapin, and Gladys. Gladys and Pearl won the pinochle and Beulah teamed up with Millie to meld 1000 aces!

DARREL CALHOUN and his wife, Carla, hosted his fifth and sixth grade class at an evening of games and wiener roast Saturday. They had a scavenger hunt, played baseball, and roasted hot dogs and marshmallows over a bonfire. Assisting them was Jerry Doherty. Class members are Kit Anderson, Steve Pettyjohn, Nancy Doherty, Bob Dobbs, Bonnie Kessel, John Van Winkle, John Rawlins, Helen Anderson, Marsha Lovgren, Bill Stockard, Danny Leathers, Jon O'Donnell, Teresa Anderson, Billy Baker, Teresa Harshman, Don Cossitt, Terry Prock, Patty Healy, Monte Evans, and Betty Henderson.

State officers paid their official visit and inspection of the Heppner Degree of Honor Protective association, May 22 at the Christian church.

The four-leaf clover theme was carried out with decorations about the rooms, and as Mrs. Theta Stratton presented the state officers and visiting presidents with gifts, the officers sang, "I'm Looking Over A Four-Leaf Clover."

Richard Vinson was initiated into the lodge and Alvin Ayers was initiated into full membership as a junior graduate. The drill team performed several drills and the glee club sang during the program. Mary Shannon gave a humorous reading about a lodge president.

Making the inspection were Mrs. Clara Gertson, state director and national committee woman; Mrs. Jack Chisholm, Portland, state second vice president; Mrs. Bill Farra, state secretary. They spoke to the group following the lodge meeting. These dignitaries were guests of the lodge officers at a banquet held in the Wagon Wheel preceding the meeting.

The six members from the Pendleton lodge came dressed as space people and presented the state officers and Heppner lodge president, Mrs. Don Townsend, with gifts of space men.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Oma Cox, Mrs. Nora Neill, Mrs. Terry Blevins, and Mrs. Stratton.
