July 12-15 Set for 4-H Camp at Cutsforth

By ESTHER KIRMIS

We're knee deep in plans these days in the county agent's office preparing for the annual 4-H summer camp to be held in Cutsforth Park (20 miles southeast of Heppner), July 12-15.

This is a 4-H event geared to the younger 4-H members. Only boys and girls between 9 and 13 are accepted. Older 4-Hers have the opportunity to attend 4-H summer school on the OSU campus in June.

The development of the 4-H camp is a significant milestone in the growth of 4-H program in the county. Close to ten years ago the leaders banded together and obtained an acreage in the mountains in Cutsforth park and erected a log shelter that contains a kitchen, store room and dining area as the headquarters of the camp. Tents, cots and mattresses and kitchen equipment were obtained from the government's surplus property division. The leaders and parents put in all this effort as they believed that every 4-H member should have the experience of camping, once in his life.

of Pendleton visited Sunday at the home of Marlow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marlow.

Party Honors Dick Skoubo

Mrs. Ralph Skoubo entertained with a party at her home Saturday in honor of her son Dick's 15th birthday. Guests were the five who had been attending school with Dick together since the first grade. They included Jim Partlow, Steve Partlow, Dennis Gronquist, Roger Zivney and Dewena West. Others present were Dick's cousins, Anna Marie and Ronna DeMauro of Umatilla.

A program of nature lore, hikes, safety, outdoor living, crafts, and sports is developed each year for the four day program. This year we've scheduled a representative from the wildlife commission, Pacific Power and Light, forest service, and county health department to take part. Two cooks and two extension agents complete the staff.

Over 137 applications came in for the 4-H summer camp this year. We have room for only 60, so a choice had to be made.

A committee of leaders met on June 13 and made a selection. Leaders had listed on a camp sheet their members wishing to go to camp and the number of years they had gone. From this the committee chose 24 boys and 36 girls who had never been to camp before or were deserving. Older ones were selected first as they will not have a chance after they have passed 13 years. Seventeen boys and girls were selected as alternates. If regular campers had not paid their $6.50 by June 27 we will notify alternates and they will be given the opportunity.

Gilliam county will be holding camp July 8-11 at Cutsforth camp and Ernie Kirsch, the county agent, has written that they will have room for ten more. If any Morrow county campers would like to apply they can come to the county agent's office and deposit a fee of $6.50. This will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Ten counsellors (older 4-H members) will assist the agents in conducting the camp. So far Steven Lindstrom, Cheryl Corley, and Arleta McCabe, Ione Ronnie Belsma, Judy Smith, and Douglas Anderson; and Penny
