MICHELLE MORRISON brought considerable attention and publicity to Ione and Morrow county at the Miss Universe pageant at Lloyd Center, Portland, last week-end. She is shown here with Mayor and Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Ione, who were among her escorts in the pageant. Michelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Morrison, made the finals of the contest as Miss Ione, but did not win the trip to Miami, Fla., to compete in the National event. This photo was taken by Marion White of Pacific Power and Light Co. for the Gazette-Times. Publicity staff of the company gave a big assist to the Ione delegation in introducing them at press conferences and other events.

Miss Ione Makes Finals But Fails To Win Trip

No candidate in the contest to pick Oregon's entry for Miss Universe reached more enthusiastic local support than Miss Ione, Michelle Morrison, in Portland Friday and Saturday. She proved to be a fine candidate and reached the final competition but failed to win the trip to Miami, Fla., for the big event.

Joyce Noren Collin, 20-year old blonde from Lebanon, won the approval of the judges and was chosen from the 12 finalists. The Florida event starts Sunday.

Michelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Morrison, was backed by a goodly delegation of her sponsors, the Ione Lions club, and their wives; the "Sagebrush Six Minus One," musical combo; and a sizeable delegation of friends and well-wishers of Ione. The Lions, the combo and the Morrow County Fair and Rodeo court were in the Saturday parade that toured Portland's downtown streets, together with Miss Ione. In all more than 100 from Ione and Morrow county attended the event.

Mayor Charles O'Connor said as near as could be determined, Miss Ione placed fifth among the 12 finalists, which was considered very good. Most of the entrants had had previous training as models, but Michelle, graduate of Ione High school with the class of 1962, had only taken a week's course at a charm school just prior to the event. Nevertheless, she made a very favorable impression on all who saw her, he said.

The Sagebrush Six had an unexpectedly important part in the performance when they were called upon to furnish the music at the Saturday night finals. A professional combo that had been engaged could not play because of union regulations, and the Ione group proved to be a fitting substitute. They have been invited by the Lloyd Center Lions to return for another appearance.

Mrs. O'Connor also had a more important part in proceedings than expected when she was called upon to act as one of the chaperones for the girls in the contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cason of Portland, former Morrow residents, proved good friends when they loaned their Cadillac convertible for the county fair and rodeo court to use in the parade. The contest in Portland was sponsored by the Lloyd Center Lions. Runnerup was Janet Dianne Bokemeir of Gresham and second runnerup was Billie Lurean Rutledge of Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tomlin and three daughters of Lindale, Texas, visited a few days last week with Mrs. Grace Wood. The Tomlins are on their way to the World's Fair. He was well known as a pitcher for the Portland Beavers in the 1920's and earlier played in the major leagues.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ruhl and Skip Ruhl are home this week visiting at the L. E. Ruhl home and with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McQuarrie.

Oswego and children Joan, Terry and John. Teresa Monohan returned home with them for a week, and expects to take in the Seattle World's Fair.

Fishing at the same time at Paulina was another Heppner party, Lou and Kay Bisbee and Alva Jones. They reported good catches, too.
