Couple Makes Home In East After Wedding Here

In a double ring ceremony, before an altar decorated with white gladioli and blue carnations, Marilyn Kay Monagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monagle of Heppner, became the bride of John William Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Barry of Merrill, in an afternoon nuptial mass June 16 at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Heppner, with the Rev. Raymond Beard as celebrant.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white silk faille with pleated empire cummerbund, scoop neckline and short sleeves. The full length skirt, trimmed with lace applique and seed pearls, fell from a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil was held by a matching crown of lace, seed pearls and pleated bow. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Miss Katherine Ahern of Merrill, cousin of the groom. Bridesmaid was Miss Linda Wright of Portland. They wore white eyelet dresses trimmed with light blue cummerbunds, matching hats and shoes, and carried white baskets of blue daisies and ivy. Flower girl was the bride's cousin, Mary Ann Meyers of Echo, dressed in white eyelet with blue sash and carrying a basket of daisies.

The bride's mother wore powder blue silk shantung with pink orchid corsage and white accessories. Mother of the groom wore beige lace with blue orchid corsage and matching accessories.

Soloist was William Kenny, accompanied at the organ by Marguerite Glavey. He sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." Best man was Jack Monagle, brother of the bride. Ushers were William Howell of Forest Grove, Larry Lindsay of Lexington and William Monagle of Heppner. Altar boys were Michael Meyers and Brian Doherty, cousins of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a buffet dinner was served at the

Over The Tee Cup

By MARIE McQUARRIE

Your regular author of the Tee Cup is off on a vacation, knocking that little white ball around on coast courses. I know it is cooler there and hope she is playing any time of the day she chooses.

This last Sunday there were early golfers and late golfers, but not too many braved the heat of the mid-afternoon to play the game.

On Ladies Day we had seven out to trot the fairways. We started at 7:00, so as to beat the heat. Where are all of our other golfing ladies? That is the nicest time of the day and we would like to see lots more of you out. You won't miss your mid-afternoon coffee, as we have both coffee and lemonade on the table near No. 7 tee-off, plus cookies for those that need the strength to finish the last three holes.

LaFyrne Pratt, Vi Lanham, Kay Robinson, Donna McCurdy, Velma Glass, Hester Creswick and I were the old faithfuls. Velma Glass had low net and Donna McCurdy putted just 13 times on the nine holes, which gave both girls a golf ball for a prize. Hester and Velma were organizers for the ladies day play for July, and we want to thank them for doing such a nice job.

We talked of a potluck after play, either on an evening, or a Sunday. What is your pleasure?

Kinzua has invited the gals over on August 8 or 22, whichever date we would like. Again, gals, please come out on our Ladies Day and bat the ball around with us. None of us are "pros," which you can readily believe when you see our scores, so don't be afraid of what you might make. Just come down next Tuesday at 7:00 (if the weather is still warm) and we will all have fun.

At the gift table were Mrs. Larry O'Rourke and Mrs. Vern Evans, with Miss Margaret Ahren in charge of the guest book. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Roy Martin, Mrs. Wilbur Steagall, Mrs. Don Pointer, Mrs. E. H. Miller, Mrs. Robert Kilkenny, Mrs. A. F. Rohman, Mrs. Jerry Brosnan, Mrs. Ray French, Mrs. James Healy, Miss Louise Pointer, Miss Sandra Boyd and Miss Marty Boyajian. Blue and white summer flowers on the buffet table carried out the wedding color theme.

The new Mrs. Barry chose a fuchsia summer suit with matching floral hat and white accessories for her going away, with the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Following a honeymoon on the Oregon coast, the couple now reside at Fort Devens, Mass., where the groom, a graduate of Pacific University, is an optometrist in the Army. The bride, a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy and the University of Portland, is a former teacher in the Portland schools.

Guests attended the wedding from Portland, Eugene, The Dalles, Klamath Falls, Forest Grove, Salem, Merrill, Walla Walla, Boise, Hermiston, Pilot Rock, Pendleton, Echo, Iona, Lexington and Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry, parents of the groom, entertained at a wedding breakfast in the Wagon Wheel banquet room for 25 guests prior to the afternoon ceremony. The bride was honored with a pre-nuptial shower in Portland given by Linda Wright and Barbara Van Camp. Friends in Heppner, Lexington, Pendleton and Echo were also bridal shower hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elkins, San Pedro, visited here Saturday and Sunday with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gimbel.

Mrs. Joe Hartle and children are vacationing for 10 days, visiting friends and relatives in Nyssa, points in Idaho, and Utah.

Allen Wheeler Named Master Of State Grange

Allen P. Wheeler, Lane county sheep rancher, who for many years has been active in Grange work, was installed as Master of the Oregon State Grange in impressive ceremonies on the final day of the week-long State Grange session in Grants Pass, Oregon, June 18-22. Wheeler succeeds Elmer McClure, Milwaukie, who held the post of Master for the last 12 years.

Wheeler heads a list of 16 officers of the State Grange, oldest and largest farm organization in Oregon, with a membership of well over 26,000, with Subordinate Granges in every county in the state.

The policy-making convention saw the delegates vote all-out support for the omnibus farm bill, S. 2786, when they learned late in the session that the House version of the agricultural bill had been killed in the House. A strongly worded telegram was sent to the Oregon Congressional delegation asking that every effort be made to get the bill through this session of the Congress.

Recognition of the European Common Market as a force for world peace was voted by the delegates. The policy statement on the common market also warned of the possible loss of markets for American agricultural products and called for strong negotiation to protect these markets for U. S. farm products in the Common Market countries.

The delegates also gave strong re-affirmation of a long-standing Grange policy in favor of public power and a federally built interstate line into California with safeguards to assure the call-back of the power when it is needed in the Pacific Northwest.

The delegates also reiterated the Grange's historic stand of opposition to a general sales tax but approved a cigarette tax. They approved the reapportionment plan now being initiated for the November ballot, and opposed compulsory automobile insurance and the "three-way" insurance plan for workmen's industrial accident coverage.

Out-of-state visitors to the convention included, A. Lars Nelson, Overseer of the National Grange and Master of Washington State Grange, and Mrs. Nelson; Wm. J. Brake, Lecturer of the National

Two Farm Teams Tied With 1 Win, 1 Loss

Little League farm team baseball action got underway two weeks ago, July 18, when the Heppner team journeyed to Lexington to meet the Lexington-lone farm team. The Heppner group came home victorious after posting a 13-2 win.

Last Wednesday the Lexington-lone boys came fighting back to take a 4-inning game, 9-8. The Heppner team got off to a roaring start with four runs in the first and two more in the second. The Lexington-lone club picked up one in the second and five in the third to tie up the game. They went on to get three more in the fourth while holding the Heppner boys to one run in each the third and fourth innings. Steve Rhea of the Lexington-lone team pitched after relieving John Hedman in the first. The Heppner team used Gary Watkins, Bill Greenup, Dallas Harsin, and Billy Baker.

The two teams are practicing every Wednesday afternoon and will meet in a playoff game in Iona in early August.

Grange and master of Michigan State Grange and J. Blaine Quinn, master of California State Grange and Mrs. Quinn and their daughter. Also from California, the State Grange secretary, Clara Williamson and the Home Economics chairman, Gladys True. Other officers installed in addition to the Master were: Roscoe Roberts, Jackson county; Overseer, Audrey Johnson, Union county; Lecturer, Roy Means, Deschutes county; Steward; Wayne Johnson, Josephine county; Assistant Steward; Florence Hammer, Lane county; Chaplain; Pearl Dentel, Clackamas county; Treasurer; Mildred Norman, Clackamas county; Secretary; Roland Johnson, Sherman county; Gatekeeper; Alta Faye Rogers-Lane county, Flora; Helen Cooper, Lake county, Ceres; Ila Clark, Curry county, Pomona; Della Johnson, Josephine county, Lady Johnson, Josephine county, Lady Assistant Steward; and Ray W. Gill, Multnomah county, Elmer McClure, Clackamas county, and Wm G. Ross, Malheur county, Executive Committee.

Mrs. Bruce Nelson and her two children of Medford were house guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Dixon and family over the week-end. The Nelsons were former parishioners of the Rev. Dixon. Mr. Nelson is director of the Science Camp Hancock near Clarno, a position he has held for four years.

Recruiters Tell Of New Program

A new re-enlistment program for the Navy has been put in force for men of certain rates, according to Chief Electricians Mate Willard Cochran and Petty Officer 1/c Earl Cox, recruiters, who were in Heppner last week.

Men in the rates of RM2, ET1, ET2, AQ1 or AQ2 who have been out of the Navy for more than three months but less than three years and are qualified as instructors may re-enlist for six years. Interested persons may choose any open reserve billet available in their rates for their first two years as stationkeepers.

At the completion of two years, an assignment is guaranteed to a class B school in their rates if they so desire. On completion of the school they will be assigned back to the fleet for a normal tour of sea duty.

"This is an excellent chance for a man to return to active duty and receive guaranteed shore duty immediately," the recruiters said.

For men in other rates than those mentioned, rating changes will be seriously considered.

The two recruiters call in Heppner on the first Monday of every month and will be at the post office from 1 until 2 p.m. Anyone interested may contact them there.
