Couple Repeats Vows In Ceremony Here July 20

Miss Judith Ann Cochell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick T. Wilkinson, became the bride of Richard Edwin Paine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Paine of Aloha on Friday, July 20, at 7 p.m. at the First Methodist church. The candlelight ceremony was read by the Rev. Melvin W. Dixon.

Vows were exchanged before a lovely setting of pink and white gladioli and pink baby's breath in tall white baskets, banked by white tapers in candelabra. Arrangements of white gladioli and pink baby's breath in altar vases added to the floral setting.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her full length gown with carriage train was fashioned of white satin brocaded in clusters of small roses, with three-quarter length sleeves and scooped bateau neckline embroidered in crystals and pearls. Her elbow length veil was held in place by white satin roses and artificial orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bridal bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Pamela Cochell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Connie Anderson and Barbara Stewart of Heppner and Miss Diana Rees of Kent, Wn., former college roommate of the bride. The attendants all wore identical white brocade dresses, with the maid of honor wearing slippers and gloves of azalea pink, and the bridesmaids wearing accessories of a pastel shade of azalea pink. Each wore a fresh flower headdress fashioned of pink roses and carried a single long-stemmed rose. Each attendant wore a dainty pendant necklace, a gift of the bride.

Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. C. C. Carmichael. Miss Gladys Faulds of Kennewick, Wn., sang "I Believe" and "One Hand, One Heart," accompanied by Miss Dianne Bentson of Pasco, Wn.

Best man was David Paine, brother of the groom, of Morgantown, West Va. Ushers were Jon Ryder, Lake Oswego; Bill Strader, Glade, and Bill Andrews, Vancouver, Wn., cousin of the groom.

Candlelighters were Nancy and John Cleveland. Nancy set the color scheme chosen by the bride in her dress of all white taffeta and organza with a cummerbund of the deep and pale pink, with pink accessories. The bride's mother wore a robin's egg blue sheath with matching hat and slippers and long white gloves. Mother of the groom chose a sheath of pineapple silk shantung, with matching hat and slippers and long white gloves. Both mothers wore corsages of white gardenias.

The couple was greeted at a reception in the church social rooms, with floral decorations carrying out the white and pink color theme. In charge of the reception was Mrs. Howard Bryant, assisted by Mrs. Roy Quackebush, Mrs. Gene Pierce, Mrs. Oliver Creswick and Mrs. Herman Green.

The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with white and pink frosting roses. After the newlyweds cut and shared the first piece of cake it was served by Mrs. David Paine, sister-in-law of the groom, assisted by Miss Lenore Leonnig, friend of the bride, Mrs. Dean Hunt of Lexington pres-

Cochran Named Head Pendleton Recruiter

Chief Willard A. Cochran has relieved Chief Carson Murray as recruiter in charge of the Pendleton office.

Chief Murray has retired after having served in the U. S. Navy for 27 years. The Murray family has moved to Kent, Wn., where they will make their home.

Chief Cochran, prior to reporting to the office here served on the nuclear submarine tender Nereus at San Diego, Calif. He has also served on tugs, cargo ships, frigates, destroyers, and submarines.

The chief, his wife Lorraine, and their two children, Patty and Danny, are residing in Pilot Rock.

With the retiring of Chief Murray, there has been a complete change of personnel at the recruiting office in the last month, with Earl Cox, Petty Officer First Class, relieving Sid Jones the first of July.

The Cox family, wife Jan and sons Brian and Clint, also are residing in Pilot Rock.

Pastor Finds Weather Hot in New Location

A note from Rev. and Mrs. Austin McGhee, now at Cave Junction in southwestern Oregon, contains a clipping of the weather in Illinois Valley where they live. Temperature was 102 for four successive days, July 22-25, after ranging between 97 and 99 for three days previously. This is considerably hotter than it has been in Heppner where the Rev. McGhee served as pastor of the Methodist church for three years prior to leaving in June.

"Enjoying cool coast weather?" writes Rev. McGhee. "Hardly! But it is beautiful country and we like it." The Rev. is now pastor of the Methodist church at Cave Junction, near Medford.

Scrivners Entertain Out-of-town Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scrivner of Portland, were week-end visitors at the Lee Scrivner home and to get Diane who had been visiting with her grandparents for a week.

Also on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scrivner and boys were Sunday dinner guests, the occasion being Lee Scrivner's birthday anniversary.

Miss Sandra Jones in charge of the gift table.

For going away the bride chose a light beige linen sheath, embroidered in deep pink roses, with rose and gold accessories. She wore a headdress of white roses fashioned like those her attendants had worn during the wedding ceremony.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wells, Vancouver, Wn., grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Andrews, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. W. D. Andrews, Thomas Andrews, Vancouver, Wn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ritter, Mrs. Delacour Des Brisay, Mrs. Dick Chinnock, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Strader, Glade; Miss Susan Coffern, Bryn Athyn, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy Mae Neil, Kennewick, Wn.; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thomas, Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Kenny and Kristine Kenny, Mrs. George Perkins, Pendleton; Miss Dianne Bentson, Pasco, Wn.; Miss Gladys Faulds, Kennewick, Wn., and Misses Carol, Nancy and Judy Oslund, Newcastle, Wyo.

E. W. HOUGHTON

Irrigon Man, OSU Graduate, Aids Telstar Project

Edward W. Houghton of Irrigon is one of four Oregon State University graduates who have joined the ranks of space pioneers.

Now employed at Bell Telephone Laboratories, they played key roles in development of Telstar, the Bell System's active communications satellite that is now successfully orbiting the earth. Houghton is an Irrigon high school graduate and a bachelor of science graduate from OSU in 1936. Houghton's mother, Mrs. Margaret Houghton, still lives in Irrigon. The others are:

A. K. Bohren, former Portland-er, graduate of Benson Polytechnic High School and of OSU in 1930.

Dean Gillette, one-term Tacoma, Wash. resident and graduate of OSU with a B. S. degree in 1948.

A. A. Lundstrom, another Portland native and Benson Polytechnic student, and holder of a B. S. degree from OSU in 1928.

Telstar is the world's first private enterprise communications satellite and is being used for dramatic experiments in relaying telephone calls and television programs internationally. The satellite was launched from Cape Canaveral by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Bell System expense.

In its orbits around the earth, Telstar is receiving voice, data and picture signals beamed to it from a ground station. The signals are amplified and sent on from the satellite to another ground station.

The U. S. ground stations now being used in the Telstar experiment were built by the Bell System at Andover, Me., and Holmdel, N. J.

A second part of the Telstar experiments will see live United States-to-Europe television broadcasts. Signals sent from the Bell System's big horn antenna in Andover will be relayed by the fast-traveling satellite to a ground station in southwestern England. A tracking station in northwestern France also will take part in the experiment. Similar stations in Italy and West Germany are scheduled for later participation in the experiments.

The feasibility of a space communications system was proposed eight years ago by Bell Labs scientists. Continued research and development since 1954 has made the Telstar experiment a reality. The four Oregon State graduates were among some 400 Bell Labs people responsible for design and construction of the satellite and the American ground stations.

Error Made In Name

It seems the wrong brother got credited with honors in the story and under the picture concerning the Heppner Little League farm team in last week's Gazette-Times. Kenny Baker and not brother, Billy, plays on the farm team. Billy is with the Dodgers, and another brother Steve was with the Giants. All are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baker.
