Lexington-Born Colonel Commands Army Unit

A major element of the Defense Logistics Services Center has become operational at the Federal Center in the form of the Utilization and Marketing Division. It was announced today by DLSC Headquarters. That element was the first of the four operational Divisions of DLSC to arrive in Battle Creek, Mich.

COL. EDWARD BURCHELL

Chief of the Utilization and Marketing Division is Colonel Edward L. Burchell, who was born in Lexington. He has been designated the commander of the advance element of the DLSC and will command all elements in Battle Creek until the arrival of the balance of the headquarters in January.

The arrival of the Utilization and Marketing Division brings to 88 the number already employed by DLSC at the Federal Center. It is anticipated that the Utilization and Marketing Division will hire an additional 30 personnel to bring its strength in Battle Creek to 67. Approximately 35 will be hired for positions in the DSBCO in August to bring its strength to 55 civilians and one officer. Recruiting has begun for these vacancies that are primarily in the clerical and administrative fields.

The total strength of the Headquarters will be 599. It has been estimated that approximately 300 people will be hired to fill vacancies that will be created by current employees who indicated in March that they will not relocate with their jobs scheduled for transfer to Battle Creek in January. Active recruiting to fill those anticipated vacancies will not begin until shortly before the relocation of the divisions.

The Utilization and Marketing Division conducts the disposal of Department of Defense material declared surplus to the needs of the Federal Government, friendly foreign governments and tax-supported health, education and welfare organizations. It uses the auction, sealed bid and spot bid sales methods to dispose of the material to the public.

Last year the Division supervised the disposal of material world-wide, valued at over 8 billion dollars.

The DLSC is commanded by Colonel Charles C. Case, with Headquarters in Washington.

Col. Burchell was born in Lexington on February 9, 1913, and was married November 30, 1934, to Katherine Healy of Heppner. They have three children, Larry E. now 26 years of age and a first lieutenant in the army assigned to 1st Battle Group, 3rd Infantry, Ft. Myer; Gail Patrick, 23, a second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers and assigned to the 23rd Engineer Battalion with the 3rd Armored Division, European Command; and a daughter, Barbara Ann, now Mrs. Edmund P. Stubbs, Arlington, Va.

The colonel attended Oregon State university, graduating in 1939, and was commissioned as a 2nd lieutenant in the infantry reserve through the ROTC in June, 1938. He served with the Civilian Conservation Corps as camp commander in 1940 and 1941.

During World War II he served with the amphibious engineers in the United States and two years in the South Pacific as battalion commander, returning in December, 1945.

In 1946-47 he was supply officer and later executive officer of the 2nd Engineer Special Brigade Fort Ord, Calif., and Fort Worden, Wn. He commanded the Composite Training Battalion, Ft. Eustis, Va., from September 1947 to July 1948.

In 1949 he graduated from Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, 1949. He served three years in the European Command, 1 year as a battalion commander, transportation truck battalion; and two years as assistant transportation officer, 7th Army. Col. Burchell graduated from the

Mrs. Emert Speaks To Club on Budding; Plans Flower Show

IONE—The Ione Garden club at the regular meeting on August 14 enjoyed, as the principal feature of the program, an excellent demonstration and explanation of the process of budding of both fruit trees and shrubs. This was presented by Mrs. Phil Emert. It was decided to hold the annual flower show on Sunday, September 23, and Mrs. Wm. Rawlins was appointed general chairman.

The club also decided to sponsor a booth at the Morrow County Fair, and to offer an award in the 4-H junior flower arrangement contest at the fair.
