

Heppner High FFA Wins Livestock Judging at Fair

Heppner High school's Future Farmers of America livestock judging team won the judging competition against four other high schools Tuesday at the Morrow county fair. They topped Pendleton, Hermiston, The Dalles and Mac-Hi of Milton-Freewater.

The local chapter received a plaque from Morrow County Grain Growers as well as a banner from the fair. The Dalles was second and Mac-Hi was third, each also receiving a banner.

Chris Burkenbine of Heppner was high individual judge and Dick Struckmeier, also of Heppner was second. Archie Ball of Heppner tied with Don Chase of The Dalles for third.

Dennis Warren, Heppner, took fifth; Jack Powell, The Dalles, sixth; Don Miller, Mac-Hi, seventh; Jim Rohda, Pendleton, eighth; Dean Robinson, Heppner, ninth; and Rock Johnson, Mac-Hi, tenth.

Gerald Jonasson is instructor and advisor of the Heppner High chapter.

Little League Boys To Sell Programs

All 12-year old members of the Little League are asked to sell rodeo programs during the two-day show again this year.

The boys are to meet with LaVerne Van Marter at his offices Friday evening, August 31 at 7:30 p.m. He will explain the selling plan for the two days and organize the boys into program.

They sold the program last year with good success.

Mrs. Harold Laird and son Tom visited in Yakima, Wn., with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Netter, Friday night and then continued on to Seattle to attend the World's Fair. The two returned Monday evening. Harold says he plans to take his vacation turn from their variety store at a later date.

Horse Show Set For August 31

point horse—halter and performance. Shown by a junior. Points taken from Class A, Class C—Lot 2A or 2B, Lot 3 or 3B or 3C, and Lot 4.

Reserve champion Jr. $10. (Second high in the same classes and lots as the Grand champion Jr.)

Grand champion performance horse, $15, as stated in Class C, Lot 5.

Reserve champion performance horse, $10, same class and lot. Junior calf ropers will perform during the afternoon with a rope to be donated by the Bank of Eastern Oregon as a prize and a saddle blanket by Humphreys Rexall Drug.

Judge for the show this year will be Roy Byron of La Grande. Harold Erwin and Al Fetsch will share announcing duties. Mrs. Bob (Beverly) Steagall will serve as secretary of the event again, and Howard Bryant will again be ringmaster.

Mankin has been superintendent of the show every year since it was started 15 years ago. It was first held the first year that the Wranglers club was organized, and Frank Turner was probably most instrumental in organizing the club. About 10 formed the charter membership.

Last year the show had a record 240 entries and quality has built up to be excellent. Every indication is that this year's show will top last year.

Guy Garnett Dies Of Heart Illness

Final rites for Guy Garnett, 71, were held at the Creswick Mortuary Tuesday morning, August 21, at 10:00 a. m. Services were conducted by Father C. Bruce Spencer of All Saints Episcopal church in the presence of close friends.

Mr. Garnett died early Saturday morning, August 18, in his room at Hotel Heppner, where he made his home. He had been bothered with a chronic heart condition for many years.

During earlier years his work was that of a cook, operating his own restaurant in Brookings for some time, and possessed a background of advanced education. He was a veteran of World War I, discharged with the rank of first sergeant, and a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mr. Garnett was born October 9, 1890 at Willows, Calif. As far as is known he leaves no survivors. Interment was in the Heppner Masonic cemetery.

Chandler Scores Ullman Record

"The sorry record of the incumbent Congressman from Eastern Oregon will be the issue in the forthcoming campaign," Bob Chandler, Bend newspaper editor and Republican candidate for the office told a group of Morrow county supporters at a luncheon meeting in Heppner Wednesday.

"The incumbent has been able to run in the past on a series of phony issues. In this campaign he will have to explain to the voters why he has ignored their wishes as expressed to him on many issues," Chandler said.

Chandler spent the day campaigning in Morrow county. He visited in Ione, Lexington and in Heppner, and spent most of the afternoon at the county fair.

Fair Hits Stride; Entry List Big, Awards Revealed

ington won a special sweepstakes ribbon for her knitting. This is a new award given in the various classes of home economics this year.

Grand champion 4-H steer, a Hereford, was exhibited by Roland Ekstrom of Ione and reserve champion winner was Carroll Lathrope of Irrigon with his Angus.

Grand champion fat lamb in 4-H went to Terry Greenup of Heppner and reserve champion to David Anderson, also of Heppner.

Grand champion 4-H market hog went to Cheryllyn Smouse, Ione, and she also won reserve champion.

Girls Win Judging
Girls topped the 4-H livestock judging, which includes judging five animals—a hog, sheep, beef, dairy cow, and lamb. Terry Greenup was first in the senior division of 4-H judging. Second was Kenneth Wright and third was Roland Ekstrom.

In junior 4-H judging, Cheryllyn Smouse was first, David Hall second and Larry Pettyjohn third. In a new type of judging of 4-H clothing, winners are determined in each of seven "phases," and each phase includes those of equivalent ages and numbers of years in 4-H.

Judged winner of the top phase (7) was Beverly Davidson of Heppner. Others were as follows: Phase 6, Penny Jones of Boardman; phase 5, Arleta McCabe of Ione; phase 4, Jean Siewert, Heppner; phase 3, Carol Rawlins, Heppner; and phase 2, Jill Padberg of Lexington. Phase 1 includes 9-year-old beginners and no competitive judging was done in this phase.

Penny Jones Wins
Although the 4-H style revue will not be presented until Friday evening judging of the clothing to be worn was done Wednesday and Penny Jones of Boardman was declared senior champion. Junior champion is Dewena West, also of Boardman.

Points considered in the judging are: Appearance, fit, posture, poise, and suitability of the garment to the girl.

In 4-H home economics judging, Judy Smith of Heppner won first, Jean Stockard of Heppner second, and Jeannette Ledbetter of Lexington third. There was a 3-way tie for fourth between Arleta McCabe of Ione and Lynn Burkenbine and Jean Siewert, both of Heppner.

FFA Winners Told
Champion sheep showman of Future Farmers of America was Ken Wright and he also exhibited the champion fat lamb. Gary Van Blokland's lamb was second. Champion beef showman was Dick Struckmeier. John Wagenblast had the champion FFA fat steer; and Gary Struthers' steer was second.

Wagenblast virtually swept beef honors, also taking champion beef (female) and champion bull.

Dean Robinson won first on his FFA yearling heifer and Gary Van Blokland took first and second with his FFA ewe lambs.

Irrigation Aspect Talked at Meet

creek is taken in the winter months.

He asked what the ranchers would do for their winter irrigation if the water was withheld for storage for later dry periods. Mangan said that he realized that considerable winter irrigation was done, but he had not realized that it was quite as extensive as pointed out.

The point was brought out by Ralph Richards of the Soil Conservation office that winter irrigation would not need to be as extensive if a more adequate supply of water was available at dry periods.

Sivley pointed out that the dam would not only serve flood control purposes, but would provide for recreation and sports fishing, as well as for wildlife refuge. It would also give some pollution control.

It was brought out at the meeting that a reconnaissance classification of soils has been completed from Heppner to the Columbia river. Water rights and records have been examined, and even with an irrigation district formed, these water rights would be protected and respected.

Mangan said that Willow Creek is rather erratic, and that the storage would not be real cheap. The cost of $3 per acre foot would not build the dam but would be what the Bureau would require from the ranchers as their share of the cost. Allocation for the rest of the dam's cost would have to come from some other source.

ROBERT PORTER

New Office Open For Accounting

Robert Porter, who was born and raised in Texas, has opened a general insurance and accounting office in the former dental suite at the Heppner Clinic, he announces. He will also be associated with Dr. C. M. Wagner as business manager.

Before coming to Heppner, Porter worked six months at a hospital in Boston, Mass. He went to Walla Walla college for three years and Union college, Lincoln, Neb. for one year. Porter is married, and his wife's name is Geneva. They have one child, Dennis, 6 months. They are living in the Lanham Apartments.
