YOU'LL PARDON me if I get a baseball player's name or a score mixed into the column this week as I am typing and watching the playoff game all at the same time! Quite exciting but now back to the social activities of the week.

MASTER POINT night was held at the Episcopal parish hall with seven and one-half tables in play. Gerald and Marian Jonasson won high north-south with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richards, Sr., Hermiston, taking second place. Dr. Wolff and Bill Collins won high east-west with Gene and Fay Pierce taking second spot. The duplicate players will meet again Tuesday night October 9 at the Parish hall.

MICKEY MOLLAHAN won top place last Wednesday at the home of Flo Connor. Flo entertained the pinocle club with two tables in play. Beverly Sherman won low with the pinocle going to Marge Eckman. Others playing were Carolyn Cole, Gail Burkenbine, Jeanne Berrie, and Jackie Glennie. Flo served the gals cherry pie a la mode following the play.

EILEEN PADBERG took all honors Thursday night at the Lexington bridge club play with Elsie Cole entertaining. Eileen won high and was on the winning team for the most slams! Lois Hunt got second and Lucia Cutsforth won low. Also playing were Velma Glass, Hester Creswick, Mildred Davidson, and Lorene Ledbetter.

TEN TABLES were in play of both pinocle and bridge Wednesday night at the Soroptimist card party. Jeanne Dobbs won high in the pinocle group with Adele Wright winning second. Bill Collins won in bridge with Inez Huffman taking second. Lillian Sweek won the door prize. Highlight of the evening was the Dutch auction with Phil Mahoney doing the auctioneering job, selling cakes, banana bread, cookies, cinnamon rolls, and a basket of a complete ham dinner which was won by Ola Ruggles. Fall flowers were used about the room and the hostesses served angel food cake with coffee flavored whipped cream topping before the play.

WHAT INFLUENCES homemakers to buy or try new or different food products? No. 1: to satisfy curiosity or obtain variety; No. 2: influenced by mass media advertising; No. 3: influenced by other people—family, relatives, neighbors, or friends; No. 4: influenced by store display or location in store; No. 5: because of convenience; and No. 6: because of money involved.

VIRGINIA WILKINSON entertained her bridge club Wednesday afternoon with Leta Tibbles taking high. Gladys Connor won second and Beth Bryant was low. Others making up the two tables were Inez Huffman, Wavel Wilkinson, Hester Creswick, and Margery Worden. When I asked Ginger what she served she said just cookies and coffee during the afternoon, which is the standing procedure for the club. Says it is the hostess' delight and she enjoys the game, too!

I TALKED with Betty Spaulding Monday about her recent vacation with husband, Carl, and daughter, Janice. She said they really enjoyed just traveling leisurely and she especially liked the World's Fair where they spent three days. Betty said she would like to go back to see it again!

VIRGINIA TURNER was named president of the Bookworms at their first fall meeting last Tuesday night at the home of Ella Smith. Elsie Cole was elected vice-president and Ella was re-elected secretary-treasurer. They held a business meeting to make up the program for each meeting during the year. This was preceded by a potluck dinner which is held annually each fall. The next meeting is at the home of Madge Thompson with Elsie Cole reviewing. Other members present were Ruby Beckett, Florence Green, Lorene Jones, and Lucy Peterson.

MILLIE EVANS hosted the Friday afternoon pinocle club on Thursday last week and she went on to show the gals how to play pinocle by winning high for the afternoon and teaming up with Marguerite Chapin to win the pinocle! Juanita Melena, Ione, won low and others playing were Pearl Wright, Carrie Beckett, Mary Harris, Gladys Beckett, and Beulah Mankin.

GWEN HUFF won high Thursday night at the Nine Tricks club meet with Sue Jones as hostess for three tables in play. Ginger Wilkinson won second. Sue served angel food cake filled with ice cream and topped with whipping cream preceding the play.

BETTY BROWN sends me a "recipe" for a picnic hamper or as Betty put it, "A survival kit for hungry hunters." She says they keep it filled since they can't run to the super market at 3:00 a.m. and it saves lots of time preparing lunches when she's barely able to fix breakfast at that hour! She goes on to say she adds surprises to the hamper which they use almost year-round as they hunt and fish.

Picnic Hamper Use wooden picnic hamper, cardboard box, or a paper sack to hold non-perishable items and place in convenient place for those quick trips to hunt or fish. Stock hamper with paper plates, paper cups, plastic spoons, can opener, crackers, cheese, jar of jelly, peanut butter, cookies, cans of tuna, chicken, pork and beans, and other canned items your family enjoys. Coffee, sugar, powdered cream, can of old coffee pot for making coffee, cans of pop, orange juice, or other juices, candy and gum. Now you are ready to go just by adding a loaf of bread and butter. Betty says when doing your shopping watch for items to add and for snacks while on the hunt fix individual plastic sacks which can be tucked away in a coat pocket with cookies, candy, apple, or an orange. And for those unsuccessful hunters, Betty says how about a bottle of aspirin?

Family Gatherings Mark Anniversary Of Irrigon Couple

Family gatherings recently marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Schmunk of Irrigon, with all of their children and families coming from out-of-town for the week-end activities.

On a Saturday afternoon the immediate family, joined by other relatives and several families of long acquaintance visiting from out-of-town, gathered for a meal at McNary Dam park, with 74 present. Featured was a large white cake, decorated with gold-colored rosebuds, commemorating the occasion.

The next day the family home at Irrigon was the scene for reunion of their children and grandchildren. Families present were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Rifenburg (Dorothy Schmunk), Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Schmunk, Garberville, Calif.; Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Schmunk, Hillsboro; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Schmunk, Springfield. All 13 grandchildren were present, and the group also included the two great-grandchildren, children of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Mack (nee Betty Rifenburg), of Portland. Joining the group on Sunday was a foster daughter, Mrs. Darlene King, and her two children of Hillsboro.

Eva Pauline Pelton and Henry H. Schmunk were united in marriage on August 24, 1912, at Enid, Okla. They have since lived in Oklahoma, Missouri, Wyoming, South Dakota and Oregon. They have lived in Irrigon since 1947. Mr. and Mrs. Schmunk were in the bakery business and motel operation for years in Hot Springs, S. D., and from 1950 to 1952 they owned and operated Eva's Bakery in Umatilla.

After 1952 they were under contract to furnish food service at Mt. Emily Lumber Company's camp near La Grande. In recent years they have been melon growers on their acreage near Irrigon, and have operated summer sales stands both on Highway No. 30 and No. 730. The couple are members of the Irrigon Seventh-day Adventist church, and they were presented flowers during a program on the sanctity of love and marriage at the Irrigon Sabbath school at the time of their golden anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Venard, Madras, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lovgren last week and enjoyed a deer hunting trip. Also visiting at the Lovgren home was Tom Sumner, Arlington.
