Neither power failure, nor storm nor the Grant Union defense could stop the rampaging Heppner Mustang Football team from winning its fourth straight grid victory of the year at John Day Friday night.

The Heppner High eleven scored a 13 to 7 victory over Grant Union to keep its victory string complete and come up with its first league triumph of the year.

Coach Jim Sutherland's lads lost no time in going to work after a power failure had delayed the start of the game for more than an hour. Shan Applegate returned the opening kickoff about 35 yards on a nice run, and then took the ball on the first play from scrimmage to go the rest of the distance.

Larry Muessig plunged for the extra point on the storm-drenched field, and the count was 7-0 for the Mustangs.

Grant Union came back in the second quarter when Jim Lenz raced 40 yards on a counter play, sweeping the end. Griffith kicked the point, and the count was tied, 7-7.

Third quarter was played mostly in John Day territory. Heppner's final touchdown came after Applegate intercepted a pass, and the team drove to the one-yard line. Quarterback Ken Smith went over on a keeper from this point. The extra point try, a run, failed, and the score of 13-7 was to stand through the rest of the game.

The Mustangs clung to their lead through the fourth quarter despite Grant Union's efforts to overcome them. The losers never threatened except on their lone touchdown.

Lights went out three minutes before the end of the game on the stormy night, and this had coaches and officials in a dilemma for a time. Fortunately, however, they came back on, and the game was completed. Although the field was in good condition, the rain made footing difficult. Heppner men dropped three possible touchdown passes in the game.

For a time prior to the start of the contest, it appeared as if the game would have to be delayed until Saturday, since it was announced that the power would be off for four hours. However, just when they were about to call it off for the night, the lights came on at 8:45, and machinery was set in motion to get the game underway.

The spectator bus that left Heppner after the team bus was forced to detour and arrived late. The students figured that they would get to see only a portion of the game, but found that it was just ready to get underway when they arrived.

Because of the late start, the team did not arrive back in Heppner until 4 a.m. Saturday.

Coach Sutherland said that his boys looked good in the contest on the ailing list, got into test. LeRoy Gardner, who has action in good shape in the last half. Dick Springer was credited with one of the best games of the season, and John Porter again took accolades both on offense and defense.

Mike Lesser, a junior, blocked

"extremely well" and was a "bearcat on defense," the coach said. Applegate ran exceptionally well and was also good on defense.

The mentor felt fortunate in getting through Grant Union. "They are the best we have met except for Enterprise," he said. Meanwhile Burns topped Pilot Rock in another Greater Oregon league game, tying with Heppner at the top of the circuit, each with 1-1 records. John Day and Sherman each have won one and lost one, and Pilot Rock is in the cellar with two losses.

Over The Tee Cup

By DEE GRIBBLE

Hi, Tee-cuppers! After days and days of rain, then the wind storm, the golf course looked like a shaggy tree had decided to shake itself and the leaves, twigs and branches are all over.

Never the less, five very delightful ladies drove from McNary Tuesday to "play Heppner." We were caught without our "tees." So many gals have clouds and sickness in their homes that only Cork Norene and I played a full nine; Bebe Munkers and Kay Robinson only got six holes in, but we did our best.

Winners for McNary were each and every one. Opal Lee, low score; Beulah Churchill (after falling in the messy swamp) was low net with her handicap; then came Hazel Olsen, Maxine Wardwell and Charlotte Dasenko. Each gal was awarded a prize. And thank you, Herb, for delicious hamburgers, which the guests did so enjoy.

My thanks again, via the old tee cup, to Ed Bennett and Judge Carmichael who graciously gave up their game Tuesday morning and mowed our greens so the gals could play. That's real Heppner hospitality!

Guess this about winds up our regular, planned Tuesday play. A real big thanks from the committee in charge for the coffee detail each Tuesday, and as Associated Oil says, "play golf!" See you and your friends on the golf course. Your old "tee bag," Dee.

Pfc. Wayne Soward Serves in Germany

Army Pfc Wayne L. Soward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Soward, Heppner recently participated in the 3rd Armored Division's four-week field training exercises in Grafenwohr, Germany.

The high point of the Spearhead division's annual training cycle, the training included day and night tactical exercises emphasizing mobility and chemical biological and radiological warfare. An essential part of the training is range firing of individual and crew-served weapons including the Army's new M-60 machine gun and the 105 and 120 millimeter tank guns.

The 3rd, a major element of NATO forces in Europe, plays an essential role in maintaining world peace.

A mortar computer in headquarters company of the division's 48th Infantry in Gelnhausen, Germany. Soward entered the Army in October 1961, completed basic training at Fort Ord, Calif., and arrived overseas in April of this year.

The 24-year-old soldier is a 1956 graduate of Heppner High school and received a bachelor of science degree in 1961 from Eastern Oregon College in La Grande.

Soward's wife, Roberta, is with him in Germany.

Harlem Clowns Due in Riverside For Hoop Contest

More fun than a barrel full of monkeys!

That is the line used by a mid-western sports writer years ago to describe the Harlem Clowns, fabulous basketball wizards and court comics.

The merry madcaps of the hardwood will be at Riverside High school, Boardman, Oregon to entertain local area fans on the date of Thursday, October 25, at 7:30 p.m. Opponents will be a team composed of Morrow county teachers and coaches.

Now a national institution, the Harlemites gained their reputation in 25 years of traveling around the country playing a seven-game week schedule five months out of every year.

They were originated by Al "Runt" Pullins, one of the great names of comic basketball. It was Pullins who first tacked the name of "Clown Ball" on this type of play.

Pullins was a member of the original Harlem Globetrotters team back in the late 1920's. He broke with Abe Saperstein, Trotters boss in 1934 and went on the road with his now famous Clowns.

This is the 27th year for the Clowns and during that time they have played thousands of games in the USA, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii.

No town is too big—nor too small for the Harlem Clowns. They have played before thousands—and also dozens.

Junior High Ponies Wind Up Season

Heppner's Junior high Ponies wound up their football season with one win against two losses. They opened against the big Lone Cardinals at Lone September 27 and came out on the short end of a 18-6 score.

In that game the Cardinals outplayed the Ponies in the first and second quarters, for a 12-0 halftime lead. The Ponies came back in the second half to pick up a TD in the third quarter with Jim Doherty going in for the score. Lone, held scoreless in the third, picked up another six points in the last quarter.

The Heppner seventh graders tangled with the lone seventh grade on the Heppner field and trampled them 28-0 with the Heppner boys dominating the play. David Hall, Heppner quarterback, scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the fourth quarter to lead all scoring. Earl Ayres, Heppner back, picked up a TD in the second quarter.

In a return game October 11 with the lone grade school Cardinals on the Heppner field, the Cardinals took their second win by downing the Ponies, 13-9. Ione opened the scoring with a pass to Jim Jacobs, and they failed to make the PAT. Jim Doherty, Heppner, skirted left end in the second quarter to tie the game and the Ponies made the PAT. Roger Leonig, Heppner, caught Ione's Jerry Stefani for a safety and two points to take the lead, 9-6 in the third quarter.

In the closing minutes of the fourth quarter, Ione's Pat McElligott scored on a pass and run play. They made the extra point and won 13-9.

Journalism Heads Attend Press Meet

Heppner High school was represented at the 36th annual Oregon Scholastic Press Conference at the University of Oregon in Eugene, October 12 and 13, by five students and their faculty adviser.

Journalism students and advisers from all over Oregon take with them any problems they might have regarding high school papers and yearbooks and seek a solution to them at the conference.

Going from Heppner were Ginger Springer and Fran Heath, co-editors of the Hehisch; Pat Mahon, business manager; Jacquie Brindle and Shirley Carlson, co-editors of the Mustang. Shirley spoke on a panel discussion "Pictures that Live." FrFan was a panel member for the discussion of "Careers in Journalism." Mrs. Kirk, adviser, taught two workshop sessions on "Layout for Mimeographed Papers."

Luncheon speaker on Friday was Eric W. Allen, Jr., managing editor of the Medford Mail Tribune. Thomas Gaddis spoke at the Friday evening banquet on his experiences in writing the book, "Birdman of Alcatraz."

Delegates were in the Eugene area struck most forcefully by the storm on Friday. They were fortunate in not getting their car smashed, even though the car was closed in a parking lot by trees which had fallen across the exit. They had an opportunity to view much of the damage done in the area and between Eugene and Portland.

Clowns received $17.50 for their 60% cut of the gate.

Talking about it afterwards, Manager Pullins said: "The promoter forgot to advertise the game—but he did tell some of his personal friends about it and they showed up."

THE PHONE COMPANY is pleased to report that few casualties like this are turning up during the 1962 hunting season. They have found youths with .22's are causing most of the damage this year.

Gunshot Damage To Phone Lines Drops This Year

Pacific Northwest Bell reports that gunshot damage by hunters so far this season is almost nonexistent. The company has had little of the trouble that plagued it a few years ago, a spokesman said.

Last year a dozen cases of damage to wires, cables and other equipment were caused by youths with .22 cal. rifles. These occurred during the summer and in the fall before the hunting season opened. The pattern has been the same in 1962.

The phone company is pleased to relate the increasing responsibility shown by hunters and hopes that their example will influence younger shooters.

It seems that too often during or just after the time a youth with a .22 is seen in some areas that dead lines, broken insulators and pierced cables turn up. They appealed to parents to inform the younger set that some seemingly inanimate targets are very much alive, even though made of wood, wire and glass.

Aside from the inconvenience to customers and the expense of repairs, the real danger is that services vital to national safety and emergency calls for fire, an ambulance, the doctor or a policeman won't get through.

Waterfowl Season Opens Saturday

About 50,000 waterfowl hunters over the state of Oregon probably have their eyes turned to the skies hoping for stormy weather through the week-end of October 20.

For this day marks the opening of the state-wide duck and goose season scheduled to open at noon. And to a waterfowl hunter fall storms mean that the birds will fly and the more severe the weather the better the shooting. The gunning season for most species of ducks and geese will extend through January 2 1963.

Bag limit for ducks is set at 4 birds per day, 8 in possession. In addition to other bag and possession limits, gunners hunting in Baker, Gilliam, Malheur, Morrow, Sherman, Umatilla, Union, Wallowa and Wasco counties will be allowed 2 more mal-

3rd Annual Check Due in Morrow

The third annual recheck of Morrow county residents participating in the six-year cancer prevention study underway in the American Cancer Society will be made during October, says Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Jr. of Heppner, county chairman for the survey.

Men and women of this county taking part in the giant study are among 1,079,000 enrollees across the nation. All of them have supplied confidential information about their personal living and working habits and their health histories to help cancer researchers find out, if they can, why some people get cancer while others do not.

When the study started in late 1959, the statistical research section of the American Cancer Society listed a total of 29, 626 Oregon participants. Since then, there have been 533 deaths in the group, 138 of them cancer-caused. There also have been the inevitable deletions, 423 of them, because some enrollees did not fill in questionnaires properly, were too young to be included or did not state their age, an essential factor in the study.

Currently, as a result of these losses by death and deletion, there are 28,650 persons in Oregon still enrolled. They live in 27 counties of the state and are of many races and nationalities and varying economic levels.

In the October checkup, volunteers in the daily bag and 4 more mallards in possession.

The daily bag limit on geese is 3 per day, 6 in possession.

Fair shooting is expected in the Umatilla area and along the Columbia river adjacent to the Columbia river refuge.

teer workers for the American Cancer Society will be asked only to report any changes in address or family status and any deaths since the 1961 followup. Additional information will be sought in 1963 as it was in 1961.

By careful perusal of vital statistics records, new listings for gas, water, electricity and telephone service, by use of registered mail and by countless personal contacts with former neighbors and business associates, they have kept the number of persons actually lost to the survey to less than one percent of the entire enrollment. Total loss, through death, deletion and failure to contact, has been only 3.29 percent. "This is an amazing figure," Dr. Hutchison observed, "in view of the sizeable number of participants."

As of October 1, 1962, there are 174 participants in the study in Morrow county and 10 volunteer workers trying to keep track of them.

Group Gives Support To Reapportionment

A resolution passed by members attending the meeting of Morrow County Farmer's Union last Tuesday put them on record as favoring the passing of the Reapportionment Measure No. 9, up for vote in the November election. They also pledged a $10 contribution to be given to the local committee for aid in financing work in its behalf in Morrow county.

Guests of the evening were Jalmor Johnson of the Portland Oregonian, visiting at the Frank Anderson home, and Lewis Pratt, IFPE student who was touring and speaking in the county.
