HI EVERYONE! Back at the job again this week and such a busy week it was for social activities. The dancing lessons have started again. Many card parties, oh, yes, the high school play, which everyone said was excellent, unknown talent comes peaking forth; and of course the 4-H Achievement party in Ione Saturday night, exciting moment for youngsters and me trying to hold them still long enough to get pictures for the G-T!

BOY, I do like the early birds that call in their social items early! Like for instance, Virginia Rosewall called Thursday to give me the What's Trump bridge club news which she hosted Wednesday afternoon. Prior to the card playing, the girls enjoyed a hearty political discussion and Virginia said she was outnumbered until Dee Gribble showed up! Others in on the talk and play were Fay Ferguson, Hazel Mahoney, Madge Thomson, Gena Leonard, Helen Schaffitz, Margaret Blake, Anna Graham, and Leta Tibbles. Fay won high; Hazel and Madge tied for second; and Gena took low.

FINALLY I ran Janina Johnson down to get the costume and bridge play she had for the Bridge Biddies on Halloween night. Everyone came in costume and Donna Gordon must have had on a lucky costume as well as the best one! She won for best costume, high prize, and the traveling prize, pretty good for one night! Jan Agee won for the second best costume. Others in on the fun were Mary McLeod, Mary McClure, Mary Jean McCabe, (I still think they named that club wrong) Dorothy O'Rourke, Patty Prock.

BOOKWORMS MEMBERS, remember the date change on the meeting to November 20 at the home of Ruby Beckett.

SHIRLEY CONNOR had a birthday dinner in honor of her husband, Dean held Sunday evening. Dean's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Drake, Tillamook; his brothers, Nelson and Morgan and daughter, and his father, Albert were present for the occasion. Also visiting were the Lee Palmers and girls, Ione; the Lincoln Nashes and Jenny Smith. Shirley served cake, ice cream and coffee during the evening.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE was in play Sunday night at the Bill Barratt home with the Terry Thompsons, Gordon Hutchens, Gordon Pratts, Bob Jones, and Bob Brindles. Sue Jones won high and someone won second, but so far I haven't learned the name of the lucky one!

SEVERAL FROM the Heppner-Lexington area took carloads of youngsters to Richland Monday for a skating party. Those taking the 40 children were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marquardt and Rev. Walter Smith, Lexington; Mrs. Lincoln Nash, Mrs. Dave McLeod, D. E. (Shorty) Hudson, and Mrs. Alvin Wagonblast accompanied Mrs. McLeod. Bernice Nash says she and Shorty were "lost" for awhile on their way home. Anyhow they got on the wrong road and ended up coming home by way of the loop and up the Columbia River through Hermiston. She said she was following the kids' directions, because they had been there before. Maybe they didn't want to get home early?

CAROLYN COLE entertained the pinocle club Tuesday night with two tables in play. She was also surprised with a gift of a baby chair seat from the girls. Jackie Glennie won high, Mickey Mollahan, pinocle; and Beverly Sherman, low. Bev. says this must be her trademark! Jackie and Jeanne Berry teamed in the first progression to score 3600 with a 1500 trump in one hand and two 300 pinocles in successive hands, wow, what a night!

BONNIE BARRATT entertained the Renegades club Wednesday night with LaFyrne Pratt winning high; Laurel Van Marter, second; and Beverly Gunderson won the special prize. Other players were Louise Farley, Kay Anderson, Cork Norene, Harriet Hall, and Meg Murray. Bonnie served a macaroni salad, to the girls following play. Sounds good instead of a dessert.

REMEMBER THE Methodist church bazaar Saturday, November 17, at the church basement rooms. A good chance to do some Christmas shopping.

OH, HERE'S this name again, which I like. Fyoudas and Fidas Bridge club were guests of Florence Green last Wednesday night. I hope the spelling is correct! This was the pay-off dinner party. The four losers entertained the five winners. Florence wouldn't tell me who the losers were but she said the hostesses were Beth Bryant, Gladys Connor, Winnifred Cox, and Florence! Also present were Alma Green, Rachel Dick, Phyllis Hutchens, Elsie Cole, and Lorena Jones. Phyllis won high; Rachel second; and Lorena low.

PINOCLE WAS in play Thursday afternoon at the home of Doris Watkins as she entertained with two tables. All the regulars were present which were Millie Evans, Gladys Beckett, Mary Harris, Pearl Wright, Hannah Anderson, and Doris. Gladys won high, and Carrie low, and they teamed up to win the pinocle. (sort of a monopoly?)! Hannah presented each with a memo from her recent trip to Cincinnati. Doris served a delicious blueberry pie with sour cream topping.

JOYCE WARD won high Friday night when Eileen Prock entertained two tables of bridge. Edda Mae Lovgren won second and Jean Bennett was low. Other guests were Patty Prock, Betty Hamilton, and Ramona Marshall.

A NEW process of processing foods is being studied and by 1970 it is expected to be an annual $20 billion business. The name of the process, "Freeze Drying". This process combines basic principles known, food is frozen and then dried in a vacuum by changing ice directly to vapor. During process the food loses 50-75 percent of its weight, porous, and brittle, then is sealed into airtight containers and may be stored at room temperature without danger of deterioration for up to two years. Sounds like a real help to consumers.

Dohertys Return From Europe Trip

By BETTY WAGNER

There we were, surrounded by a "we-did-it-together" husband and wife project—a lovely wood-paneled recreation room with a beautiful and unique fireplace at one end. Using mostly Oregon material, Faye and Hubert Wilson had faced their new fireplace with polished slabs of woods, agates, Paulina obsidian, and many other minerals. In the center just below the mantle was a small slab of brilliant orange-red material, identity unknown. It did remind me very much of the more opaque varieties of slag glass that I have seen at some of the rock shows—a real eye-catcher on the fireplace. Because it was after dark when we met, we did not see the outside rock work, but Hubert tells me sandstone from the Shaw Creek grade was used for the exterior. So, you see, we had a very enjoyable and most interesting setting for our October meeting. The Wilsons have been working pretty steadily on their new room since late summer and have something to be very proud of.

There was much business under discussion, including the possibility of a Nevada field trip, but it looks like the Nevada agates will be safe from our rock-thirsty appetites until next spring. Plans are progressing for the construction of a glass cabinet for the court house; also we hope to do a little decorating in our regular meeting place to improve the acoustics of the building.

A few years ago, G. N. Cochran of Portland and the late Harold Sanders, formerly of Heppner, found some lovely thunder eggs on a ridge overlooking the Spray highway. One of these cut and polished eggs is now a part of the permanent collection of the county museum as a tribute to the enthusiasm and work put forth by Mr. Sanders in organizing our rock club.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Welch and four-month-old twins, Elizabeth and Daniel, left November 3 for their new home in Newburgh, N. Y., after a week's visit with Mrs. Welch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kirk. Mr. Welch was recently transferred from Santa Monica, Calif., to Stewart Air Force Base, N. Y., for a two year assignment in the training computer program for the government at the base.

When you trade at home, the dollars you spend go to work for you.
