HOPE EVERYONE had a nice Thanksgiving and that all are enjoying the very nice fall weather! Here it is the last days of November and we have had only a few days of cold weather with a skiff of snow. Just cold enough to keep the fireplace stoked up and, of course, our kids really enjoy carrying the wood! Not too much brewing in the card playing department as the Christmas holiday season is nearing. Most of us are involved with school and church activities and getting ready for Santa time. And I'm not an early bird shopper. Now only 21 shopping days till Christmas!

RUBY BECKETT entertained the Bookworms club at her home last Tuesday and she also reviewed the book, "Pacific Northwest," written by Roy T. Glassley. She used colored slides to relate some of the material of the book. This non-fiction story tells of the geological and historical facts of the northwest. Of interest here, he writes of the John Day area, the Fossil beds, and Indian writing. Members taking part in the discussion were Ella Smith, Lorena Jones, Florence Green, Madge Thomson, Elsie Cole, Leta Thomas, Virginia Turner, and the co-hostess Agnes Flug.

TO HELP with your Christmas shopping, remember the Episcopal church bazaar at the parish hall this Saturday complete with a luncheon. Many items to choose from.

MARJE ECKMAN topped the girls Tuesday night with high for the pinochle play. Jackie Glennie won the door prize and Jeanne Berry took low. Gail Burkenbine came up with the best hand for the evening as she melded 100 aces, 300 pinochle, and a trump suit run. Others playing were Flo Connor, Mickey Mollahan, Jackie Allstott filling in for Carolyn Cole, and the hostess Beverly Sherman.

AT THE Open House and Tea which Helen Cox held on the 18th, she said they served more than 150 persons who stopped in during the showing to see the beautiful arrangements and gifts. Door prizes were won by Mrs. Austin Wilson, Mrs. Edna Munkers, Lexington, and Christine Spencer.

JAN AGEE had two tables of bridge at her home Tuesday evening. High for the play went to Karen Thompson with Nadine O'Brien winning second high and the traveling prize. Lucky night huh? Eileen Prock, Joyce Ward, Ramona Marshall, Betty Gimbel, and Edda Mae Lovgren were also in on the play. Karen's high was 4760 in four progressions and Nadine was close behind with 4730.

ROGENIA WILSON celebrated her 15th birthday Saturday night with a slumber (?) party at the Hubert Wilson's home. Freshman girls enjoying the fun were Diane Schaffitz, Brenda Young, Teresa Munkers, Ginger Majeske, Janis Baker, and Joan Stockard. The girls played records, made fudge and popcorn. They stayed for breakfast Sunday morning before returning to their homes.

MARY McCABE entertained the Bridge Biddies at the home of Mary McLeod last Tuesday night. Those playing were Kay Robinson, Dorothy O'Rourke, Mary McClure, Marian Jonasson, Janina Johnson, LaFyrne Pratt, and the hostesses, Marian won high, Mary McLeod, second, and Dorothy won the traveling prize. This prize was for taking a trick with a "2."

NOW THAT we are nearing the festive holiday season it is time for baking of delicious goodies. Make this time a family affair as the youngsters get much excitement from this experience and really remember it more than their toys. At our house we go in for candy making and cookie making. Usually fudge and nut divinity rolls, chocolate chip cookies and date filled cookies. If you have a favorite recipe for the holiday season send it to me or the G-T office so I can pass it on to others.

THE BERNARD Dohertys had two guests for Thanksgiving as sons Dennis and Roger brought college friends home. Jerry said they really enjoyed talking to the boys. One of the boys is an exchange student from Austria and the other is from Brazil. Elaine Laird also brought two college friends home from Portland University. One girl lives in South Vietnam; the other in Nevada. The whole Laird family really enjoyed the girls as they dined at the piano or played charades. What an interesting time to meet others from all over the world.
