I'M NOT about to say a thing about the weather. The last time I talked too soon and we (among others) ended up with broken water pipes! Of course, the kids squawked a little about having to haul so much wood. Speaking of kids, how are your mornings? Hectic like everyone else? Before the year is over, ours are sure to miss the bus. What I need is three bathrooms, six combs, two coats each (one near the door), and three mothers (one on each child's trail)!

THE LINCOLN NASHES were treated with a dinner on their 25th wedding anniversary at the home of Bill and Ida Farra last Wednesday evening. Other guests were Mrs. Alice Luttrell, Mrs. Mary Bryant, and Jenny Smith. Speaking of their anniversary, Berniece was pleasantly surprised when her mother, Mrs. Mary Nogowski, Lidgerwood, N. D. and her sister, Mrs. Jim Tostenson, Santa Clara, Calif., arrived for their reception in Hood River Sunday.

THREE TABLES of bridge were in play Thursday night at the home of Lucia Cutsforth as the four lows entertained the four highs and the four subs of the Lexington Bridge club. Helping Lucia were Lorine Ledbetter, Hester Creswick, and Mildred Davidson. The four highs were Lois Hunt, Elsie Cole, Eileen Padberg, and Velma Glass. The four subs included June Bellenbrock, Ginger Wilkinson, Juanita Carmichael, and Gena Leonard. They pulled a switch on the prizes for the evening as they gave first prize to low, Eileen; second to next low, Ginger; middle prize to Lois; door prize, Velma; and traveling slam to Gena. Juanita held the traveling slam most of the night only to lose it to Gena. Speaking of slams, Elsie bid four slams and went down on all four only to learn later she could have made two slams which she didn't bid! Just not your night, huh? Juanita finally won the Jack high traveling prize after it did some traveling. June won it soon after play started, then Lucia and back to June. Lois then held it until next to last game and lost it to Juanita! The gals served a molded salad, crackers, chip 'n dip and a patented punch recipe. So concluded their annual pay-off party.

LOLA WILSON, Ione, was surprised (almost) with a birthday dinner at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ayers. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bunny Steers and children, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson and son, Mrs. Lydia Wilson and son, John, and Clyde Cox.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE was in play Tuesday night at the Elks with six tables going. About midway through the session, they discovered Van (LaVerne Van Marter) had gotten the boards mixed up when they were passed out. Too late to start over, so they just decided to make it up at a later date. Oh, yes, all of you who attended need not pay at the next get-together.

ARE YOUR students complaining about home work? They should have listened to the three children of Calvin Cox, former Heppnerites, who were here recently from England. There they all have home work from the first grade up! It was quite a treat for them and for our students to visit with the children during a day at school here. The oldest is James, 9; Michael is 8; Melody, 6; and Joy 4. Mother Connie is from England.

THE LA VERNE Van Marters entertained the four-table bridge club at their home Sunday evening. Joining in the play were Ed Dicks, Gordon Pratts, Dick Meadors, Clint McQuarries, Conley Lanham, Lowell Gribbles, and Wallace Wolffs. Gordon and Clint won high; Rita and Ed took second; and to keep the wins in the family, Rachel and LaFyrne won third.

FRIDAY WAS and was not Gladys Beckett's day! First of all, she entertained the Friday afternoon pinochle club, then she tripped and fell as she went to get the coffee. Thinking she had sprained her ankle, she nevertheless continued to play and ended up with the high score! What those gals don't do to play pinochle! Gladys checked with a doctor later and learned she had a fractured bone, was in the hospital until Monday and is now home, complete with cast and crutches. Carrie Beckett was low, Hannah Anderson and Millie Evans teamed up to win the pinochle. Also at the two tables were Mary Harris, Pearl Wright, and Doris Watkins.

MARY McCLURE won high, Mary McLeod won second; and Mary Jean McCabe won the Jack high traveling prize. Yes, sir, those "Marys" took the night at the Bridge Biddies play with LaFyrne Pratt as hostess. And others in on the play were Marlan Jonasson, Janina Johnson, Colleen Winters, and Donna Gordon. LaFyrne served a molded crab salad. While talking with her, my phone was very noisy and she said "molded salad; not moldy salad!"

OF INTEREST to many will be the Money Management short-course to be held on four consecutive Thursdays starting January 21, 7:30, in the Heppner High school, room No. 1. Four interesting topics will be presented, ideal for the families.

FLORENCE GREEN reviewed the book, "Where The Heart Is," by Elizabeth Borton de Torviso, at the Bookworms meeting held last Tuesday at the home of Sadie Parrish. This true story is about Mrs. Borton de Torviso's marriage to a middle class Mexican and her life spent in that country. Other members attending the meeting were Ella Smith, Marian Abrams, Elsie Cole, Agnes Flug, Virginia Turner. Florence will host the next meeting January 22 with Lorena Jones reviewing.

BOB AND Sue Jones entertained three tables of duplicate bridge Sunday evening. Each member is keeping his individual running score for 12 sessions at which time the winners will be named. In on the play were the Bob Brindles, Terry Thompsons, Bert Huffs, Gordon Hutchens, Don McClures, and the Jones.

JACKIE GLENNIE entertained two tables of pinochle Tuesday night and the winners were Jackie Allstott, high; Gall Burkentine, low; and Beverly Sherman, pinochle. PINOCHLE WAS the entertainment Saturday night, January 5, at the David Eckman home as Marge entertained three tables in honor of husband Dave's birthday. Guests were the Darrel Powers, Amatilla; Pete Glennies, Don Coles, Forrest Burkenbines, Calvin Shermans. High for the men was Calvin and low was Don. High for the gals was Carolyn and low went to Gail.

TOMMY HUGHES, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hughes, celebrated his birthday Friday night with a hot dog dinner complete with birthday cake and ice cream. Tommy and his pals then went to the show. Enjoying the party were Kevin Dick, Keith Cornutt, Ronnie Sherman, Ernie and Chuck Lister, Jimmy Schaffitz, Kelley Green, and brothers Mike and David and sister Pamela.

THE LA VERNE Van Marters and Bill Collins traveled to Hermiston Monday night to participate in the Master point play. LaVerne and Laurel teamed up to win high while Bill and Daisy took third.

Activities Occupy Ione Church Members

The Ione Community church has been engaged in many activities during the past week. Tree stumps have been burned around the church, holes filled in, and trustees have hauled gravel for the parking areas at the front and side of the church. Also, new carpeting has been laid on the stairs leading to the basement of the church. Participating in this work have been Roy Lindstrom, Milton Morgan, Bob Rietmann, and Rev. Rod MacKenzie, John Proudfoot is chairman of the trustees.

Since Rev. MacKenzie submitted his letter of resignation, a pulpit committee has formed to secure a new pastor. Don Britton is chairman of the committee, and represents the Board of Deacons. Others on the committee are Mrs. Milton Morgan (deaconesses), Bob Rietmann (trustees), Mrs. Jack Barak (board of Christian education), Kenneth Smouse and Fred Nelson (congregation), and Mrs. Ella Burgoyne (Women's Fellowship). Last Sunday, Dr. A. J. Buttrey, conference superintendent from Portland, met with the pulpit committee at the Milton Morgan home.
