ONE—A farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. Roderick MacKenzie was held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the social hall of the Ione Community church Sunday, March 3. Mrs. MacKenzie was presented with a red rosebud corsage and Rev. MacKenzie with a carnation.

A short program dedicated to the honored couple was presented. Mrs. Kenneth Smouse and daughter played a clarinet and violin duet "This is my Song"; a humorous reading called "When the Minister comes to call" was given by Steve Hedman; a reading "What is a minister?" was given by Mrs. Fred Nelson, and Mrs. Glenn Biehl sang a solo "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," accompanied by Mrs. Frederick Martin.

Robert Jepsen, moderator of the church, acted as master of ceremonies and presented a gift on behalf of the MacKenzie's friends, which was a pair of ceramic Egrets handmade by Mrs. David Baker and inscribed with the following: "To Rod and Char from friends of the Ione Community." Also a gift certificate for five volumes of the Interpreter's Bible, was given to them to complete Rev. MacKenzie's set of twelve.

Seventy-five friends called during the afternoon to wish them well, including several refreshments were served from a table centered with an arrangement of pink carnations, stock and pussy willows, which carried out the pink and white theme. Pouring coffee and punch during the afternoon were Mrs. Wate

Pendleton to Host Beef-O-Rama Event

A series of Beef-O-Rama cooking schools is being held in five Oregon cities as a consumer education and beef sales promotion, for the purpose of showing women a variety of exciting, tantalizing ways of preparing low cost, economy cuts of Oregon beef.

These demonstration programs, sponsored by the Oregon CowBelles and Oregon Beef Council, are taking place in Salem, Eugene, Albany, Portland and Pendleton in that order.

Elizabeth McKellin, Chicago, nationally-known field home economist with the National Livestock and Meat Board is conducting the beef cookery programs in Oregon, and Cleo Matells, former Mrs. America, is acting as M. C. during the Beef-O-Rama cooking schools.

The first in the series was held in Salem, February 25, and the one in Pendleton will be Friday, March 8, in Vert auditorium.

"Infant and Child Care and Emergency Childbirth," Velma Glass, instructor; April 15, old Irrigon school, April 18, Heppner courthouse.

Self-Help Course To Get Underway

Six "Medical Self-Help" training meetings on radioactive fallout; first aid for shock, bleeding, fractures and burns; water and food; and nursing care of the sick and injured; and others are being scheduled in Irrigon and Heppner, beginning March 11 and March 13, according to Morrow county civilian defense director C. J. D. Bauman.

William Crooke, First Aid Instructor from Heppner, along with Joe Hay and Esther Kirmis, Morrow county extension agents; and Mrs. Velma Glass, county health nurse, will serve as instructors for the course.

Irrigon meetings are scheduled for six Monday evenings, beginning March 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the old Irrigon cafeteria. Heppner meetings will be held in the courtroom of the county courthouse for five Wednesdays beginning March 13 at 7:30 p.m. The sixth meeting will be held Thursday, April 18.

The course is intended to give students knowledge as to how they may meet their own health requirements in the event that adequate medical care is not available following a nuclear attack or an emergency.

All Morrow county residents are urged to attend these training sessions. Proper knowledge and skills in many instances assure that you as well as your fellow citizens can remain physically well and be prepared to assume the task of rehabilitation once an emergency is over.

Following is a schedule of meetings:

"Radioactive Fallout and Shelter and Shock," Joe Hay and Bill Crooke, instructors; March 11, at old Irrigon school, March 13 at Heppner courthouse.

"Bleeding and Artificial Respiration," Bill Crooke, instructor; March 18, old Irrigon school; March 20, Heppner courthouse.

"Fractures and Splinting and Transferring of the Injured," Bill Crooke, instructor; March 27 at old Irrigon school, March 27 at Heppner courthouse.

"Burns and Nursing Care of the Sick and Injured," Velma Glass, instructor; April 1, old Irrigon school, April 3, Heppner courthouse.

"Hygiene, Sanitation and Vermin Control, and Water-Food," Esther Kirmis, instructor; April
